Estimate Population Of State At 10,238,012 Now

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's population increased a third of a million people between 1940 and 1946 and brought the total number of residents to nearly 10 and a quarter millions, it was estimated today by the state planning board.

Tabulations taken on a county basis placed the state-wide population at 10,258,012, a 3.4 per cent gain over the 9,900,180 figure reported during the federal census of April 1, 1940.

The largest increase was recorded in Philadelphia county and was believed due to labor demands of the vast number of war industries in the area, the board said. The greatest percentage gain, 25 per cent, was noted in Delaware county. Philadelphia's population influx represented only an 8.5 per cent rise in total citizens.

Obvious wartime growth was expected to push the state's official population over the 10,000,000 mark for the first time in its 171-year-old history when the next decennial federal census is taken in 1950.

Despite general gains, population slumps were recorded by thirty-five counties, those in the anthracite region suffering the greatest losses. All noting declines were rural or mining or sections with few industries.

Estimate of Lawrence County population was 97,834.

Dutch Troops Find Malang Scorched Ruins

BATAVIA, July 31.—(INS)—An official communique announced today that Netherlands troops have reoccupied Malang, finding only flame-scorched ruins in what once was a beauty spot of eastern Java.

An Aneta news agency dispatch from the scene said that Malang is a "wilderness", practically devoid of life, with fires still burning in many sections.

Indonesian Republicans withdrawing before the tank-supported Netherlands troops blew up factories, motion picture houses and government buildings, while other structures were set on fire.

Pall of Smoke

The Aneta correspondent said a pall of smoke hung over the city as the steel-helmeted Dutch troops, afoot and in American-built half-tracks, drove into Malang from the north, passing looted shops and piles of debris in the streets.

Only Chinese and a number of Europeans still were in Malang, as the city's population of 130 thousand fled to the mountains several days ago.

Aneta said some snipers fired on the Dutch as they entered Malang late yesterday but they either were wiped out or vanished into the countryside.

Other reports indicated that Republican resistance was stiffening and that the "scorched earth" operations were taking an increasingly heavy toll of property.

U. S. May Seek Showdown On Balkan Issue

Embarks On Series Of Moves Designed To Make Moscow Expose Intentions

SEEKING TO SPEED TREATY RATIFICATION

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The United States today was embarked on a series of moves designed to make Moscow expose its intentions fully to the western world.

For this reason it was believed that United States deputy delegate to the United Nations, Herschel V. Johnson, will take an aggressive attitude when he returns to the security council for a showdown on the Balkan issue.

Confers in Washington

Johnson spent Wednesday in Washington conferring with officials of the State department who are specialists in the various fields involved in the Greek dispute. He returned to New York last night without having talked with Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

This fact alone left the impression that Johnson is not going to make any immediately sensational move. However, Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett indicated to a news conference that the State department has a series of maneuvers under consideration on the Greek question. He declined to say what they might be.

Challenges Moscow's Right

Intensification of the United States attitude toward Russia was indicated also in a note challenging Moscow's right to remove so-called German and Italian assets from the satellite state of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The note, delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister V. Molotov by U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith, refused to recognize such transfers in advance of the Russian ratification

New Attacks On Greek Border Are Repulsed

(BULLETIN)

ATHENS, July 31.—(INS)—A series of new attacks by allegedly Communist-inspired Greek guerrillas rocked a 50-mile front near the Turkish border today but the assault teams withdrew in at least one sector after suffering heavy losses.

At the same time, Greek battleships fired on guerrilla concentrations near the gulf of Corinth in Doris Province. The guerrillas were reported preparing to embark for landings on the Pelopenese Coast on the opposite side.

May Be Trick

Military circles in Athens said the new attacks might be a "trick" to draw the Greek army from Macedonia "where an important offensive is expected momentarily.

Initially, Leftist rebels struck from the Salonika area, fighting their way into outskirts of the strategic Aegean port of Alexandroupolis.

Other guerrillas simultaneously attacked the border towns of Soufflion, Ferrai and Sikaralys—all close to the Turkish border of western Thrace.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A sensational showdown in the Senate's Hughes-Kaiser Aircraft investigation was promised today by a summons for Howard Hughes to testify immediately in the glamour-studded inquiry.

The senate war investigating committee decided to call Hughes "no later than tomorrow morning." This thrust to the fore the millionaire plane-maker's charge that Sen. Brewster (R) Maine offered to call off the hearings if Hughes would merge his TWI alline with Pan-American Airways.

"Should Be Interesting"

Brewster, chairman of the committee, declared that Hughes "will be invited to testify under oath and fully". He added:

"It should be interesting".

Police Holding 83-Year-old Man For Probe Into Death Of Daughter

CARTHAGE, Ill., July 31.—(INS)—Police today held an 83-year-old man for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting of his daughter aboard a crack Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad train en route from Chicago to Kansas City.

James J. Stufflebeam of Brookfield, Mo., was taken into custody after the body of his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Brady, was removed from the train at Augusta, Ill.

Hancock County Sheriff Willard Steinbarger said the shooting occurred about midnight in a dimly lit day coach of the railroad's "American Royal No. 55". He said passengers reported hearing a gunshot and seeing Mrs. Brady stagger down the aisle and collapse.

She had been occupying a seat behind her father and mother, he said, adding that a .32 calibre Smith & Wesson revolver was found at Stufflebeam's feet.

Steinbarger said the parents had been visiting their daughter, who lived in Chicago, and she was accompanying them back to their home in Brookfield for a visit.

No charges have been filed against the man.

U. S. May Seek Showdown On Balkan Issue

Embarks On Series Of Moves Designed To Make Moscow Expose Intentions

SEEKING TO SPEED TREATY RATIFICATION

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The United States today was embarked on a series of moves designed to make Moscow expose its intentions fully to the western world.

For this reason it was believed that United States deputy delegate to the United Nations, Herschel V. Johnson, will take an aggressive attitude when he returns to the security council for a showdown on the Balkan issue.

Confers in Washington

Johnson spent Wednesday in Washington conferring with officials of the State department who are specialists in the various fields involved in the Greek dispute. He returned to New York last night without having talked with Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

This fact alone left the impression that Johnson is not going to make any immediately sensational move. However, Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett indicated to a news conference that the State department has a series of maneuvers under consideration on the Greek question. He declined to say what they might be.

Challenges Moscow's Right

Intensification of the United States attitude toward Russia was indicated also in a note challenging Moscow's right to remove so-called German and Italian assets from the satellite state of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The note, delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister V. Molotov by U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith, refused to recognize such transfers in advance of the Russian ratification

New Attacks On Greek Border Are Repulsed

(BULLETIN)

ATHENS, July 31.—(INS)—A series of new attacks by allegedly Communist-inspired Greek guerrillas rocked a 50-mile front near the Turkish border today but the assault teams withdrew in at least one sector after suffering heavy losses.

At the same time, Greek battleships fired on guerrilla concentrations near the gulf of Corinth in Doris Province. The guerrillas were reported preparing to embark for landings on the Pelopenese Coast on the opposite side.

May Be Trick

Military circles in Athens said the new attacks might be a "trick" to draw the Greek army from Macedonia "where an important offensive is expected momentarily.

Initially, Leftist rebels struck from the Salonika area, fighting their way into outskirts of the strategic Aegean port of Alexandroupolis.

Other guerrillas simultaneously attacked the border towns of Soufflion, Ferrai and Sikaralys—all close to the Turkish border of western Thrace.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., said today that he "expects" both Howard Hughes and Johnny Meyer, Hughes' party-throwing publicity man, to testify before the Senate War Investigating Committee tomorrow morning.

Ferguson, chairman of the subcommittee probing the huge Kaiser-Hughes Flying Boat contract, admitted that he had received no word from Hughes, however.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A sensational showdown in the Senate's Hughes-Kaiser Aircraft investigation was promised today by a summons for Howard Hughes to testify immediately in the glamour-studded inquiry.

The senate war investigating committee decided to call Hughes "no later than tomorrow morning." This thrust to the fore the millionaire plane-maker's charge that Sen. Brewster (R) Maine offered to call off the hearings if Hughes would merge his TWI ailine with Pan-American Airways.

"Should Be Interesting"

Brewster, chairman of the committee, declared that Hughes "will be invited to testify under oath and fully". He added:

"It should be interesting".

Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett, former assistant secretary of war for aid, and a list of CAA and RFC officials were to testify today if Hughes fails to reach Washington from California in time.

Woman Shot To Death On Train

Police Holding 83-Year-old Man For Probe Into Death Of Daughter

CARTHAGE, Ill., July 31.—(INS)—Police today held an 83-year-old man for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting of his daughter aboard a crack Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad train en route from Chicago to Kansas City.

James J. Stufflebeam of Brookfield, Mo., was taken into custody after the body of his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Brady, was removed from the train at Augusta, Ill.

Hancock County Sheriff Willard Steinbarger said the shooting occurred about midnight in a dimly lit day coach of the railroad's "American Royal No. 55". He said passengers reported hearing a gunshot and seeing Mrs. Brady stagger down the aisle and collapse.

She had been occupying a seat behind her father and mother, he said, adding that a .32 calibre Smith & Wesson revolver was found at Stufflebeam's feet.

Steinbarger said the parents had been visiting their daughter, who lived in Chicago, and she was accompanying them back to their home in Brookfield for a visit.

No charges have been filed against the man.

Research House 'Wired For Heat'

Four Miles Of Fine Wire Used In Model Home To Test Heating Methods

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (INS) — A new object of research at the University of Illinois is a specially built 5½ room one-story house "wired for heat."

The gray shingled house is "wired for heat" by four miles of fine wire, which connects testing devices throughout the structure.

Prof. Scheick In Charge

Prof. William H. Scheick, who is in charge of the project said:

"The aim of our research program is to improve the warm air heating system by producing the maximum comfort for the home-owner with the minimum cost."

The experimental house is the first of several to be built in the huge research center planned by the Small Homes Council.

About 200 delegates to the National Warm Heating and Air Conditioning association convention in Chicago traveled to Champaign to participate in the dedication program of the experimental house.

The association built the house for the research program, at a cost of 25 thousand dollars.

The wire network connects 240 temperature reporting devices embedded in walls, floors, ceiling, and suspended at four different levels in each room.

Other devices measure humidity, barometric pressure, draft at the base of the chimney, combustion efficiency of the furnace, exact quantity of heat in the fuel, amount of fuel used, amount of electric power consumed, and velocity of air movements.

of the peace treaties with these countries.

It appeared obvious to observers that the move was designed to press Russia into ratification of the peace treaties.

Would Force Army Removal

Under these treaties Russia is obliged to move the bulk of her forces from the Balkans, where they now constitute a major force in compelling compliance with Moscow demands, within a given period after the treaties come into force.

They become effective after the United States, Britain, France, Russia and the conquered state have ratified them. Thus far the three western powers already have deposited their instruments of ratification. Reports from Europe have indicated that Moscow will not ratify until the conquered state has done so first.

This is interpreted in effect as a Russian filibuster designed to keep the Soviet armies in occupation.

Gulledge inserted one bullet in his revolver, spun the cylinder, placed the muzzle against his head and pulled the trigger. It clicked on an empty chamber. The girl also tried the game and won. Then, according to her story, he tried again, but this time lost. (International)

Mass Kidnaping Of German Youth Laid To Russians

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—A Catholic prelate Monday accused Russia of "kidnaping" more than 5,000 German boys from the streets of Berlin with intent to convert them to Communism.

The Rt. Rev. James H. Griffiths, returning with 12 other American clergymen from a 35-day tour of Europe, declared he had "extremely reliable information" that 12 to 17-year-old German lads had been "captured" from zones not in the Soviet occupation area.

Monsignor Griffiths of New York added that he had been informed the Russians were indoctrinating the German youths with communistic instruction.

A committee speaking for the clergymen denounced Russian policy in Europe and expressed firm support of the Marshall plan.

Bringing back what Most Rev. Bryan J. McEntegart, Bishop of Ogdensburg, N. Y., frankly termed "a sad report," the clergymen were united in their conclusions that only prompt American action in Europe can prevent complete collapse of democracy on the continent.

Thoughtless Vets Irk Chicago V.A.

CHICAGO—(INS)—The veterans administration insurance office in Chicago complained recently that approximately 90 thousand veterans have failed to identify themselves when sending in premiums.

C. Cocheu, director of insurance service for Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, said that thoughtless policy holders are sending in such letters at the rate of thousands a week.

Thoughtless policy holders keep a force of 43 persons working full time on the "unidentified" files, he said.

Cocheu requested all veterans having government insurance to do the following to insure accurate handling of their premiums.

1. Write their name in full—never using initials or nicknames.
2. Give complete addresses where they can be reached.
3. Place their insurance policy number on their checks or letters.
4. Give their service serial number.

INDONESIAN WAR TO GET PREFERENCE IN U. N. COUNCIL

the Indonesian war may be opposed by some of the 11-nation delegates, however, on the grounds that there has been no preliminary opportunity to prepare themselves for such an important undertaking.

The Security Council also will grant participation to the representatives of India, The Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic. The government of India has annouced that it spokesman, V. K. Krishna Menon, is en route to Lake Success.

It is indicated by spokesmen for the delegations of India and Australia that there will be consultations between them on the question of common procedure in the council. India asked U.N. action under articles 34 and 35, while Australia resorted to Articles 39 and also proposed arbitration.

In the meantime, there has been no slackening in the tensity of the international atmosphere felt in the wake of the Soviet veto against a Greek border commission.

U. S. Delegate Hershel V. Johnson is expected to return from Washington in time for the 3 p. m. meeting of the council. It is known that he had vital conversations with top officials at the State Department, as well as consultations on joint action with the British Embassy.

At the moment, it remains uncertain whether Johnson will have an opportunity at today's council to launch the next move of the United States in counter-action to the Soviet veto.

Will Be Questioned Publicly

Committee members indicated that Hughes will be questioned publicly on his charges against the chairman. Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., chairman of the subcommittee handling the hearings, declined to comment on this point.

Ferguson announced that the step-up in Hughes' appearance was decided upon when it became apparent that Johnny Meyer, party-throwing publicity man for Hughes, would not be back from Europe in time to take the stand today.

The investigation is directed at the forty million dollars worth of government contracts Hughes obtained to build a still unfinished giant flying boat and a high-speed photo-reconnaissance plane dubbed the "F-11".

Research House 'Wired For Heat'

Four Miles Of Fine Wire Used In Model Home To Test Heating Methods

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (INS) — A new object of research at the University of Illinois is a specially built 5½ room one-story house "wired for heat."

The gray shingled house is "wired for heat" by four miles of fine wire, which connects testing devices throughout the structure.

Prof. Scheick In Charge

Prof. William H. Scheick, who is in charge of the project said:

"The aim of our research program is to improve the warm air heating system by producing the maximum comfort for the homeowner with the minimum cost."

The experimental house is the first of several to be built in the huge research center planned by the Small Homes Council.

About 200 delegates to the National Warm Heating and Air Conditioning association convention in Chicago traveled to Champaign to participate in the dedication program of the experimental house.

The association built the house for the research program, at a cost of 25 thousand dollars.

The wire network connects 240 temperature reporting devices embedded in walls, floors, ceiling, and suspended at four different levels in each room.

Other devices measure humidity, barometric pressure, draft at the base of the chimney, combusti[illegible] efficiency of the furnace, exact quantity of heat in the fuel, amount of fuel used, amount of electric power consumed, and velocity of air movements.

of the peace treaties with these countries.

It appeared obvious to observers that the move was designed to press Russia into ratification of the peace treaties.

Would Force Army Removal

Under these treaties Russia is obliged to move the bulk of her forces from the Balkans, where they now constitute a major force in compelling compliance with Moscow demands, within a given period after the treaties come into force.

They become effective after the United States, Britain, France, Russia and the conquered state have ratified them. Thus far the three western powers already have deposited their instruments of ratification. Reports from Europe have indicated that Mocsow will not ratify until the conquered state has done so first.

This is interpreted in effect as a Russian filibuster designed to keep the Soviet armies in occupation.

Widowed By Game

A BRIDE of two months, Mrs. Jane Gulledge, of Dearborn, Mich., told police that her husband, Army Lt. Lloyd Gulledge, 25, shot himself to death as they played Russian roulette after a drinking bout. Gulledge inserted one bullet in his revolver, spun the cylinder, placed the muzzle against his head and pulled the trigger. It clicked on an empty chamber. The girl also tried the game and won. Then, according to her story, he tried again, but this time lost. (International)

Mass Kidnaping Of German Youth Laid To Russians

WASHINGTON, lJuy 31.—(INS)—A Catholic prelate Monday accused Russia of "kidnaping" more than 5,000 German boys from the streets of Berlin with intent to convert them to Communism.

The Rt. Rev. James H. Griffiths, returning with 12 other American clergymen from a 35-day tour of Europe, declared he had "extremely reliable information" that 12 to 17-year-old German lads had been "captured" from zones not in the Soviet occupation area.

Monsignor Griffiths of New York added that he had been informed the Russians were indoctrinating the German youths with communistic instruction.

A committee speaking for the clergymen denounced Russian policy in Europe and expressed firm support of the Marshall plan.

Bringing back what Most Rev. Bryan J. McEntegart, Bishop of Ogdensburg, N. Y., frankly termed "a sad report," the clergymen were united in their conclusions that only prompt American action in Europe can prevent complete collapse of democracy on the continent.

Thoughtless Vets Irk Chicago V.A.

CHICAGO—(INS)—The veterans administration insurance office in Chicago complained recently that approximately 90 thousand veterans have failed to identify themselves when sending in premiums.

C. Cocheu, director of insurance service for Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, said that thoughtless policy holders are sending in such letters at the rate of thousands a week.

Thoughtless policy holders keep a force of 43 persons working full time on the "unidentified" files, he said.

Cocheu requested all veterans having government insurance to do the following to insure accurate handling of their premiums.

1. Write their name in full—never using initials or nicknames.
2. Give complete addresses where they can be reached.
3. Place their insurance policy number on their checks or letters.
4. Give their service serial number.

the Indonesian war may be opposed by some of the 11-nation delegates, however, on the grounds that there has been no preliminary opportunity to prepare themselves for such an important undertaking.

The Security Council also will grant participation to the representatives of India, The Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic. The government of India has annouced that it spokesman, V. K. Krishna Menon, is en route to Lake Success.

It is indicated by spokesmen for the delegations of India and Australia that there will be consultations between them on the question of common procedure in the council. India asked U.N. action under articles 34 and 35, while Australia resorted to Articles 39 and also proposed arbitration.

In the meantime, there has been no slackening in the tensity of the international atmosphere felt in the wake of the Soviet veto against a Greek border commission.

U. S. Delegate Hershel V. Johnson is expected to return from Washington in itme for the 3 p. m. meeting of the council. It is known that he had vital conversations with top officials at the State Department, as well as consultations on joint action with the British Embassy.

At the moment, it remains uncertain whether Johnson will have an opportunity at today's council to launch the next move of the United States in counter-action to the Soviet veto.

went off, uprooting trees in the grove where the men had been hung. Eyewitnesses said the corpses had been hanging side by side dressed in civilian clothes.

A notice, printed in English and Hebrew, was pinned to one of the bodies. It said:

"This is the sentence of Irgun's high tribunal."

Several British troops were injured when mines sown throughout the wooded grove in which the bodies were found exploded. The bodies had been discovered only a short time before.

New Violence

Jerusalem, July 31. — (INS) — Fresh violence in Palestine resulted in the deaths of two British soldiers and injuries to three others today as a hunt was pressed for two other troopers whom the Jewish underground announced it had hanged.

The new casualties occurred when a land mine was detonated beneath a military truck on the road at Hadera.

(A dispatch to the London Daily Graphic said that 50 troops demonstrated near Hadera after their comrades were killed and injured. According to the report, the soldiers fired shots into the air and smashed furniture at a cafe.)

SENATE SUMMONS HUGHES TO APPEAR BEFORE PROBERS

Hollywood airman and movie producer issued his blast against Brewster, the committee notified him to be on hand today or tomorrow.

Will Be Questioned Publicly

Committee members indicated that Hughes will be questioned publicly on his charges against the chairman. Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., chairman of the subcommittee handling the hearings, declined to comment on this point.

Ferguson announced that the step-up in Hughes' appearance was decided upon when it became apparent that Johnny Meyer, party-throwing publicity man for Hughes, would not be back from Europe in time to take the stand today.

The investigation is directed at the forty million dollars worth of government contracts Hughes obtained to build a still unfinished giant flying boat and a high-speed photo-reconnaissance plane dubbed the "F-11".

Awaits Senate Move

Los Angeles, July 31.—(INS)—Howard Hughes awaited a senate war investigation invitation today as he prepared to defend his government aircraft contracts and explain his lavish wartime entertainments.

The millionaire producer and aircraft designer has charged that Senator Owen Brewster, war investigating chairman, offered to drop his plane contract inquiry if Hughes agreed to merge his Transworld Airline with Juan Trippe's Pan-American Airways.

NAVAL ENOCH ARDEN

LAHARPE, Ill. — (INS) — The Union Church, scene of memorial services for Robert Bice six years ago, was recently the setting of the same man's marriage. Bice was a gunner's mate on the ship "West Virginia', sunk by the Japanese Dec. 17, 1941. Nine days later, his parents received word that he was missing in action. Since no further information came after a reasonable length of time the church congregation held memorial rites for "Laharpe's first war casualty". However, it was learned that Bice was in a navy hospital recovering from severe burns incurred in the ship's explosion.

WHAT CONGRESS DID

Like most of its predecessors, the 80th Congress left behind a mixed record when it adjourned its first session in the early hours of Sunday morning. But it was a fairly impressive performance, on the whole, considering the fact that, with a Democratic President in the White House and Republicans in control of Capitol Hill, the legislative and executive branches of government were frequently and inevitably in a state of deadlock.

Congress had at least two outstanding achievements to its credit—the Taft-Hartley act and the act unifying the armed services. It can claim all of the credit (labor leaders might say all the blame) for the first sweeping labor law reforms in 15 years since it had to pass the bill over a presidential veto to get it enacted into law. President and Congress share equal credit for the Army Navy reform. Relief from wartime taxes might have been added to the list if President Truman had not twice blocked it with his veto.

One other impressive and heartening fact is that the bipartisan front on foreign policy has emerged largely intact from a period in which President and Congress were often bitterly at odds. Although neither Mr. Truman nor Secretary Marshall obtained everything they asked, Congress gave the Administration smashing majorities on such crucial issues as the plan for aiding Greece and Turkey.

Much more might have been accomplished if President and Congress had been of the same political party. But enough constructive legislation has been adopted and enough cooperation has been shown by both sides to make those who prophesied a "constitutional crisis" last January look more than a little ridiculous today.

TAFT'S TOUR

Though he is not yet an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, Senator Taft is now ready to be considered an aspirant for that honor. The disclosure that he will tour at least eight western states this fall, to find out how he stands with the voters, definitely places him among the hopefuls.

In going this far, Senator Taft has not yet entered the category now occupied solely by former Governor Stassen, who is openly out for the nomination. He has not committed himself. If he finds that his chances are slim, he can withdraw from the race without so much as a statement in explanation. If the prospects are good, he can become an avowed candidate at any time he sees fit.

It is doubtful, however, that Senator Taft can expect to protect himself from attack by this strategy. If his hat is not in the ring, his rivals will note that he has it in his hand ready for the toss and will conduct themselves accordingly.

The Ohioan will not begin his tour until September, though he will speak at Columbus on July 31—when, it is expected, he will emerge as his state's favorite son. But come fall he will be running and no politician will have any doubt of it. And if he finds that he cannot win, he will still be in a position to give a great deal of trouble to any other Republican who fails to meet his approval.

FLOWERS VS. FLIERS

Once in a while one hears of something that has all the newness of a freshly-minted coin. A rural informant reveals that sunflowers are planted around the edges of turkey-runs to keep the birds from flying over the fence. The seeds are eaten—but that is of secondary importance.

The whole explanation depends upon aerodynamics as applied to turkeys. Unlike their wild ancestors, modern domestic turkeys cannot attain great altitudes in flight. They're too heavy. But they can and do fly over a six-foot fence. The expense of 10 or 12 foot fences has now been found unnecessary. Just plant sunflowers along the inside of an ordinary low fence.

As the turkeys grow, so do the sunflowers. By the time the turkeys can fly, the sunflowers have reached their full height of 10 or 12 feet. Flexing his primary wing muscles, a gobbler eyes the distant world of unknown delights and prepares for the take-off. Then he sees the close-standing ranks of tall sentinels, and changes his mind. He hasn't sense enough to know he could thrash right through the sunflowers and escape.

Instead, noticing the gaze of a nearby hen-turkey, he expands his wattles, throws out his chest, drags his wings and struts. He didn't want to fly over the fence anyway.

Philosophy is the realization that weeds kept mowed to the proper height make a pretty good lawn.

Another reason for the popularity of ham and eggs is that no other dish is so hard to cook wrong.

"Great trouble is coming if most of the babies are boys"—folk proverb. Another sure sign is an epidemic of orators.

General Eisenhower's connection with Columbia will not be an on the job training proposition. His salary will be in five figures.

Naming Bradley's Successor Big Task

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Within a few days Gen. Omar N. Bradley will leave his post as head of the veterans' administration. He is planning to sail for Europe on August 15 for a six-weeks tour of American occupation zones in Germany and Austria. If there is time, Bradley will visit the battlefields of Normandy where just three years ago he was leading the army of invasion in some of the bloodiest fighting of the war.

Not long after his return to this country, Bradley will replace his friend, Gen. of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, as chief of staff. Thus the career of this soft-spoken, almost shy soldier will come to a new climax.

How to Replace Him

What is now troubling President Truman's advisers is how to replace Bradley with a man of sufficient stature and courage to carry through the Bradley reforms in the veterans' administration. It is once again the familiar story of these post-war years—the search for a big man for a big job. Secretary of Defense James Forrestal summed it up at his first press conference since his appointment, when he said his chief task was: "To get people."

How serious this is for the veterans' administration can only be understood against the background of the pressures on that far-flung organization, with its more than

"Is it proper for a girl to give birthday, Mother's Day, Christmas and Easter gifts to the mother of a man friend? The woman in question [illegible] have met only twice and [illegible] briefly, but have talked over the telephone various times. I've [illegible] called to inquire if the man was home, or to check up on news of him when he is out of town. The mother is reserved and shy."

Answer: Until a girl is definitely engaged to a man, she should be cautious about making too many overtures to his family. As you have had only the most casual acquaintance with the mother, you might send her greeting cards on Christmas and Easter but ignore the others, especially Mother's Day.

Being a shy woman, she would probably resent as aggression gifts from a veritable stranger, [illegible] send her. And she would be correct in resenting these, thinking you consider yourself a member of her family.

Her shyness might be resentment at your too obvious pursuit of her son. Wise is the woman who makes her telephone calls to a man's home as few as possible, if any at all. Neither the man nor his family is greatly impressed with girls who constantly check up on indifferent males. And rarely does such pursuit pay off. Occasionally a girl gets her man by chasing after him but usually an aggressive woman repels the object of her pursuit.

Question: My son recently married a girl from another town where he is employed. They will soon visit us and I should like to have a tea at [illegible] home. Should I invite her family? If so, what members of my family [illegible]? Should those who serve wear evening clothes? Who should stand in the receiving line? What should I serve, what kind of invitations should I send out?

Answer: Invite her entire immediate family and as many friends as she would especially like to have present, and of course your own friends and relatives that you would like to have meet the bride. All guests as well as those who are serving should wear afternoon dresses. Evening clothes are not proper before 6 p. m. You, the bride and her mother should receive so that you may introduce both of them to guests they do not know. Serve tea, tea sandwiches and cakes. You may send out visiting card invitations or "informals" if you prefer.

FLORIDA AND GREEN BENCHES

People come back from Florida and tell us how wonderful it is down there.

The green benches are so comfortable for rich widows and retired bankers and hod carriers.

They tell about the sunshine and fish dinners and crowded churches.

It seems that few of us cannot go to Florida every winter. It is said that we have the same old sun here that they have down there.

Perhaps we do not take as much advantage of sunshine as we should.

Sitting in the sunshine is a pretty easy job. A few minutes does a lot of good.

One Man's Opinion

The State Department is stepping up its news broadcasts to Russia ... There will be 30 minutes more a day to explain the Hughes investigation.

Translated into Russian the Hughes probe makes a kind of sense.

As I understand it, Howard Hughes is charged with introducing Elliot Roosevelt to a flying boat while 12 chorus girls from Mars entertained the Kaiser.

But I think Sen. Ferguson should have allowed Henry Kaiser to quote from Tennyson ... It is well known that Tennyson is politically neutral.

On the broadcasts to Russia, I hear they're coming through better than expected ... In the last survey the "Voice of America" finished just behind the Stalingrad plow works program.

The Hooperatch survey reports all those in Siberia with telephones were contacted.

WASHINGTON: Sen. White (R-Maine) in scotching reports that he intends to quit as senate majority leader next session: "Those stories are all the bunk. I have no intention of stepping out."

NEW YORK: Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, in a congratulatory message to the women's reserve of the navy on its fifth birthday: "The Waves made possible the release of more than 80,000 men for duty afloat and overseas during World War II, accounting for enough personnel to man completely a major naval task force."

GARDEN LESSON

"I've never owned a garden," said a stranger passing by.
"[illegible] you've missed a lot of [illegible]," I was prompted to reply.
"I'm sure of that," he answered
"but to run one seems a task
Now I'm curious about it and some questions I would ask."

So I took him through the garden and I said with eyes a-shine:
"These are Colorado spruces; and that one, Australian pine."
I named the various roses and the phlox and marigold
And the [illegible] rhododendron, very lovely to behold.

I pointed out the dogwood and the elm and maple tree,
And the juniper and cedar, and he seemed to smile at me
As he said: "It's all so peaceful and so very pleasant here.
Don't the elm trees hate the maples, and the plums the apple fear?

"Don't the yellow roses ever start to quarrel with the white?
Don't they claim to share God's sunshine with the peonies isn't right?
Don't the Colorado spruces try to knock the cedars flat?"
"No," I told the curious stranger.
"It is only men do that."

Could be that because we watered the lawn last evening that brought on the rain of early this morning ... the fireworks with the storm however was not in the plan of [illegible] rain ... that was just evidently thrown in for good measure or something ... it was very colorful don't you think ... or did you sleep right through it all?

Lightning does queer things ... and it has been doing 'em for thousands of years ... Arnold J. Barnsley, well known music teacher of this county, had an unusual experience the other day ... while driving along the country side during an electrical storm witnessed the burning of a shock of wheat. Yes sir, the lightning struck the shock of wheat in a field and burnt it to the ground and right before his eyes ... we have heard of this happening before but not many folks are on hand to see it happen ... Mr. Barnsley said it was raining hard and there was no other damage to the field of wheat.

Tomorrow being the first day of August we are asked by the United States Air Corps ... or Force ... to watch the sky. Well now ... there probably won't be too much going on around here but in some sections of this nation there will be great air shows ... hundreds of planes in the air ... And that brings us down to some hard old facts. Are we here in the United States of America keeping up our air force. Are we keeping the latest equipment in the air. Or are we doing as we have done before ... using the same old equipment that was used in the WW2?

We don't by any measuring stick advocate another war ... but we don't believe in letting our equipment and standing army slide down the scale either. Can't we profit by our past experiences ... need we have another Batan ... Pearl Harbor ... Saipan?

It's serious ... even if you are a peace loving guy ... you must face facts ... don't just turn the page and say ... the guy is nuts ... think hard brother, think hard!

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

"P. S. I come from Brooklyn".

So ends the letter I received this morning from Private Roy H. Schneider, stationed at Eglin Field, Florida, who gives me a thorough bawling out for "knocking New York so much".

"I would like to know", he writes, "how many times you have been to New York, or have you ever lived there?"

Then he goes on to enumerate some of the advantages of New York, all of which are among the very reasons why I dislike New York so much.

Here are some of them, (according to Private Schneider):

In New York people can't just go around taking their time like they do in other cities; there is more work to be done than they can handle in a day, so they have to rush to get their work out on time.

In New York people have to make every minute count. They can't afford to waste any time like they do in other places.

In New York the life is fast and if you want to get anywhere you have to push and shove a little or somebody will get there before you.

In New York you have to get there early if you want to get a seat in a restaurant or a theatre or a night club.

Private Schneider gives a few more reasons, but these will suffice.

"I would appreciate it very much," he concludes, "if you'd lay off New York and pick on some other place! Why don't you pick on Florida? It isn't so perfect".

There is an old Latin proverb "De gustibus non est disputandum"—there is no arguing about tastes. So let Mr. Schneider like his New York and let me like my Connecticut and Florida.

At any rate, it seems to me that liking or disliking a place is strictly a matter of personal taste.

We have had many invitations from readers to spend some time with them. Every one of these invitations claimed that the place where the prospective host lives is the best place on earth.

We have had such invitations from Texas and Ohio, from Pennsylvania and California, from Michigan and Massachusetts, from Cuba and Venezuela.

Every one of them was right—their place is the best place in the whole world.

Because each place, be it in the dust bowl of Texas or the ice fields of Alaska, is their home.

It is the place where they have their roots, where they live and love, where the trees are their own trees and their bit of land belongs to them, body and soul.

So my dear Private Schneider, I don't blame you for liking New York and for not liking Florida.

Florida, to you, is only a place in which to drill, and your "next of kin" there is probably your sergeant.

But remember that many thousands of people love Florida beyond anything else in the world, because it is home to them.

As for you—God bless New York, including Brooklyn. I give it to you with all my heart and soul.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SUGGESTION FROM MR. HOOVER

Tenseness of the international situation, due to the Communist coup in Hungary, together with focusing of public interest in the tax reduction and labor issues, unfortunately diverted public attention from the important suggestions of former President Hoover on the subject of foreign relief. The theme of Mr. Hoover's statements, made in a letter to Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was the danger of depleting too rapidly and on too large a scale our own resources by excessive exports to distressed nations. It was a timely warnings in view of the tremendous commitments already made and in the making.

Mr. Hoover calls attention to the substantial rise in food prices, due largely to our heavy exports of grain. (Corn futures passed the Two Dollar mark on the Chicago Board of Trade a few days ago, the explanation being heavy exports.) He notes that our shipments, primarily to Europe, have made heavy inroads on our railway and factory equipment and our construction materials. He further reminds us that overseas shipments of such basic commodities as iron, oil, metals and other items, none of which are renewable, have been in such quantity as to imperil our own future security. (During the week ending July 12th, some five hundred thousand barrels of oil were shipped from San Pedro and Wilmington, California, to Russia.)

Makes Vital Point

Mr. Hoover makes a vital point in saying that when our exports of essential commodities exceed our surplus the American consumer must suffer shortages, higher prices [illegible] living standards. Shortages, higher prices and lowered standards automatically create a demand for wage increases, and set in motion the inflationary spiral. He reminds us of the fact too frequently overlooked: that our gifts and "loans" to other nations are not made in actual money, but in goods and credits to buy goods.

As one method of offsetting our

Straws In The Wind

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Like bloodthirsty desk-soldiers who begin to holler for combat while the cease-fire order is being processed, chair-borne members of Congress filled last-minute hoppers of the Senate and House with fighting-mad legislation. Two examples will suffice.

Senator Pepper, Florida Democrat, came out valiently for American motherhood on July 24.

Representative Gearhart, California Republican, began to bleed for the American taxpayer on July 25.

Congress adjourned on July 26 before either bill had a chance of passage.

Pepper Case More Touching

The Pepper case is the more touching because it shows how a politician can have his ups and downs. When President Roosevelt was riding high, there was never a more faithful rider on his coat tails than Claude Pepper. The Floridian paid full fare for the ride by showering his benefactor with the incense of praise and flattery. Once Pepper was reported to have cried out in his ecstacsy of admiration: "My highest ambition is to nominate Franklin Roosevelt for President of the World".

Roosevelt-loving was a pretty useful enthusiasm for a Southern Democrat in 1936-44 (circa), and since FDR's death Pepper has looked in vain for another such patron. He has now, however, come up with a cause that no one can quarrel with in principle. The maternity bill he introduced would provide $20 million and up per annum for the care of mothers and children. Similar legislation was introduced in 1945 and 1946, and Pepper had had since January to produce the present bill. The reason he waited so long cannot be because the birth rate was suspended for seven months. A better guess is that Pepper wished to have a fresh and noble subject to discuss with his constituents this summer recess.

Does Better Than Pepper

Representative Gearhart seems to have done even better than the Senator in this respect. Tax relief may not rate with mother-love as heart interest, but Gearhart has seized a numerical advantage. Less than three million voting mothers would be personally affected by the Pepper measure, whereas the Gearhart bill is aimed to liberate 19 million persons from paying income taxes.

The California's idea is to hike the exemption level by about $1000 so as to relieve voters in the low and medium income brackets. This would reduce Federal revenues by $9.7 billion, says Gearhart. But his bill would recover $6.4 billion by levying a tax on processed goods like gasoline, coffee, tea, tobacco and electrical energy. Since these things are bought by rich and poor alike, it is difficult to see where anybody saves money. But at least Gearhart can tell California voters this summer that he tried to reduced their taxes.

Both these bell-ringer bills, and others like them, are straws which show which way the wind is blowing. It is blowing toward political normalcy. This means that the recess speeches of the average legislator will tend to ignore the big issues in favor of safe generalities.

One reason for this is that the big issues are not clearly drawn along party lines.

Invented Global Responsibility

The Democrats invented the idea of global responsibility, but bipartisan support has almost robbed them of the monopoly. The Republicans were forced to make their bed in the Labor Bill, but they have had plenty of Democratic company. Opposition to the Taft-Hartley Act came from the Administration as distinct from the Senate and House Democrats, many of whom helped override the veto. Both parties have theoretically endorsed tax-cuts and have only differed as to how and when.

Only Senator Taft, a most exceptional man in many ways, is likely to use the summer recess to discuss real issues with the people. Taft is the one real leader who has left a crack in the door for some modified return to isolationism—and this may be very significant. The first sign of skepticism about the Marshall plan was expressed when the Republican House voted for traveling committees to inspect U. S. spendings abroad. Taft, the advocate of economy, stands to profit if this skepticism grows.

But aside from the Ohio Senator and possibly the President, member of both parties will take their cues from Pepper and Gearhart. They will spend the summer endorsing such old stand-bys as maternity, patriotism, lower taxes, the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

A spectacular shift in the British Labor government's nationalization policy was predicted in the wake of a decision by Building Trade Union leaders to revive the "bonus" principle as an incentive to increased production.

Complicated—as most labor and union measures are—the decision is of utmost importance.

By coincidence, the resolution follows closely a warning voiced by Pope Pius XII against excessive nationalization of industry.

See Policy Change

And while there is no apparent connection between these two events, it is extremely likely that the next few months will witness a major reorientation in the labor government's policy of curbing private initiative in behalf of states control and production.

The trade unions obviously and inevitably wield tremendous influence with a labor regime. If other organizations follow the lead of the Building Trades many important developments may be anticipated.

These are some salient factors:

Salient Factors

1.—The Socialist government's nationalization program has made the United States wary of additional loans to Britain, with the result that England is planning to dig into her gold reserves.

2.—Up to now, the British have been demanding nationalization of coal and transport in the Ruhr Valley of Germany, a sharply-debated point which has stood in the way of complete Anglo-American agreement on economic revival of the Reich.

3.—The government of Prime Minister Attlee on the home front has been criticized bitterly for some of its tactics. Opponents hold that state supremacy has tended to destroy private initiative, with the result that production has lagged and the slogan "export or die" has lapsed into a prophesy of doom.

Fear Mass Unemployment

There is no question that fear of mass unemployment in the United Kingdom has led in recent months to a revival of the old Scottish philosophy of "Ca'canny," which in effect denotes a slow-up in order that available work shall be spread among the greatest possible number.

At the recent Labor Party conference in Margate, this system was bitterly attacked, but at the same time heavy emphasis was placed upon the crying necessity for application of incentive if the full production facilities of the nation are to be exploited to obtain foreign credits that are so vitally needed.

Britain's "Battle of Production" is as vital to her future existence as the war-time "Battle of Britain" ever was. Despite wartime damage, she has the equipment she needs in virtually every field save coal and textiles. The significant lack has been turnout—day by day and hour by hour. The building unions have presented a reversal of theory that could quickly turn the tide from failure to victory.

Hints On Etiquette

Special thought should be given to lighting when one entertains at cards. Tables should be softly illuminated by floor lamps, one at each table, if possible.

WHAT CONGRESS DID

Like most of its predecessors, the 80th Congress left behind a mixed record when it adjourned its first session in the early hours of Sunday morning. But it was a fairly impressive performance, on the whole, considering the fact that, with a Democratic President in the White House and Republicans in control of Capitol Hill, the legislative and executive branches of government were frequently and inevitably in a state of deadlock.

Congress had at least two outstanding achievements to its credit—the Taft-Hartley act and the act unifying the armed services. It can claim all of the credit (labor leaders might say all the blame) for the first sweeping labor law reforms in 15 years since it had to pass the bill over a presidential veto to get it enacted into law. President and Congress share equal credit for the Army-Navy reform. Relief from wartime taxes might have been added to the list if President Truman had not twice blocked it with his veto.

One other impressive and heartening fact is that the bipartisan front on foreign policy has emerged largely intact from a period in which President and Congress were often bitterly at odds. Although neither Mr. Truman nor Secretary Marshall obtained everything they asked, Congress gave the Administration smashing majorities on such crucial issues as the plan for aiding Greece and Turkey.

Much more might have been accomplished if President and Congress had been of the same political party. But enough constructive legislation has been adopted and enough cooperation has been shown by both sides to make those who prophesied a "constitutional crisis" last January look more than a little ridiculous today.

TAFT'S TOUR

Though he is not yet an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, Senator Taft is now ready to be considered an aspirant for that honor. The disclosure that he will tour at least eight western states this fall, to find out how he stands with the voters, definitely places him among the hopefuls.

In going thus far, Senator Taft has not yet entered the category now occupied solely by former Governor Stassen, who is openly out for the nomination. He has not committed himself. If he finds that his chances are slim, he can withdraw from the race without so much as a statement in explanation. If the prospects are good, he can become an avowed candidate at any time he sees fit.

It is doubtful, however, that Senator Taft can expect to protect himself from attack by this strategy. If his hat is not in the ring, his rivals will note that he has it in his hand ready for the toss and will conduct themselves accordingly.

The Ohioan will not begin his tour until September, though he will speak at Columbus on July 31—when, it is expected, he will emerge as his state's favorite son. But come fall he will be running and no politician will have any doubt of it. And if he finds that he cannot win, he will still be in a position to give a great deal of trouble to any other Republican who fails to meet his approval.

FLOWERS VS. FLIERS

Once in a while one hears of something that has all the newness of a freshly-minted coin. A rural informant reveals that sunflowers are planted around the edges of turkey-runs to keep the birds from flying over the fence. The seeds are eaten—but that is of secondary importance.

The whole explanation depends upon aerodynamics as applied to turkeys. Unlike their wild ancestors, modern domestic turkeys cannot attain great altitudes in flight. They're too heavy. But they can and do fly over a six-foot fence. The expense of 10 or 12-foot fences has now been found unnecessary. Just plant sunflowers along the inside of an ordinary low fence.

As the turkeys grow, so do the sunflowers. By the time the turkeys can fly, the sunflowers have reached their full height of 10 or 12 feet. Flexing his primary wing muscles, a gobbler eyes the distant world of unknown delights and prepares for the take-off. Then he sees the close-standing ranks of tall sentinels, and changes his mind. He hasn't sense enough to know he could thrash right through the sunflowers and escape.

Instead, noticing the gaze of a nearby hen-turkey, he expands his wattles, throws out his chest, drags his wings and struts. He didn't want to fly over the fence anyway.

Philosophy is the realization that weeds kept mowed to the proper height make a pretty good lawn.

Another reason for the popularity of ham and eggs is that no other dish is so hard to cook wrong.

"Great trouble is coming if most of the babies are boys"—folk proverb. Another sure sign is an epidemic of orators.

General Eisenhower's connection with Columbia will not be an on-the-job training proposition. His salary will be in five figures.

Washington Calling

Naming Bradley's Successor Big Task

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Within a few days Gen. Omar N. Bradley will leave his post as head of the veterans' administration. He is planning to sail for Europe on August 15 for a six-weeks tour of American occupation zones in Germany and Austria. If there is time, Bradley will visit the battlefields of Normandy where, just three years ago, he was leading the army of invasion in some of the bloodiest fighting of the war.

Not long after his return to this country, Bradley will replace his friend, Gen. of the Army Dwight D. Eeisenhower, as chief of staff. Thus the career of this soft-spoken, almost shy soldier will come to a new climax.

How to Replace Him

What is now troubling President Truman's advisers is how to replace Bradley with a man of sufficient stature and courage to carry through the Bradley reforms in the veterans' administration. It is once again the familiar story of these post-war years—the search for a big man for a big job. Secretary of Defense James Forrestal summed it up, at his first press conference since his appointment, when he said his chief task was: "To get people."

How serious this is for the veterans' administration can only be understood against the background of the pressures on that far-flung organization, with its more than

"Is it proper for a girl to give birthday, Mother's Day, Christmas and Easter gifts to the mother of a man friend. The women in question have met only twice and very briefly, but have talked on the telephone during the various times the girl has called to inquire if the man was home, or to check up on news of him when he is out of town. The mother is reserved and shy."

Answer: Until a girl is definitely engaged to a man, she should be cautious about making too many overtures to his family. As you say, you have only the most casual acquaintance with the mother, you might send her greeting cards on Christmas and Easter but ignore the others, especially Mother's Day.

Being a shy woman, she would probably resent as aggression any gift you, a veritable stranger, might send her. And she would be correct in resenting these, thinking you consider yourself a member of her family.

Her shyness might be resentment at your too obvious pursuit of her son. Wise is the woman who makes her telephone calls to a man's home as few as possible, if any at all. Neither the man nor his family is greatly impressed with girls who constantly check up on indifferent males. And rarely does such pursuit pay off. Occasionally a girl gets her man by chasing after him, but usually an aggressive woman repels the object of her pursuit.

Question: My son recently married a girl from another town where he is employed. They will soon visit me and I should like to have a tea in her honor. Should I invite her family? If so, what members of it? Should those who serve wear evening clothes. Who should stand in the receiving line? What should I serve, what kind of invitations should I send out?

Answer: Invite her entire immediately family and as many friends as she would especially like to have present, and of course your own friends and relatives that you would like to have meet the bride. All guests, as well as those who are serving should wear afternoon dresses. Evening clothes are not proper before 6 p. m. You, the bride and her mother should receive so that you may introduced both of them to guests they do not know. Serve tea, tea sandwiches and cakes. You may send out visiting card invitations or "informals" if your prefer.

Lightning does queer things . . . and it has been doing 'em for thousands of years . . . Arnold J. Barnsley, well known music teacher of this county, had an unusual experience the other day . . . while driving along the country side during an electrical storm witnessed the burning of a shock of wheat. Yes sir, the lightning struck the shock of wheat in a field and burnt it to the ground and right before his eyes . . . we have heard of this happening before but not many folks are on hand to see it happen . . . Mr. Barnsley said it was raining hard and there was no other damage to the field of wheat.

Tomorrow being the first day of August we are asked by the United States Air Corps . . . or Force . . . to watch the sky. Well now . . . there probably won't be too much going on around here but in some sections of this nation there will be great air shows . . . hundreds of planes in the air . . . And that brings us down to some hard old facts. Are we, here in the United States of America keeping up our air force. Are we keeping the latest equipment in the air. Or are we doing as we have done before . . . using the same old equipment that was used in the WW2?

We don't by any measuring stick advocate another war . . . but we don't believe in letting our equipment and standing army slide down the scale either. Can't we profit by our past experiences . . . need we have another Batan . . . Pearl Harbor . . . Saipan?

* * *

It's serious . . . even if you are a peace loving guy . . . you must face facts . . . don't just turn the page and say . . . the guy is nuts . . . think hard brother, think hard!

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

"P. S. I come from Brooklyn".

So ends the letter I received this morning from Privtae Roy H. Schneider, stationed at Eglin Field, Florida, who gives me a thorough bawling out for "knocking New York so much".

"I would like to know", he writes, "how many times you have been to New York, or have you ever lived there?"

Then he goes on to enumerate some of the advantages of New York, all of which are among the very reasons why I dislike New York so much.

Here are some of them, (according to Private Schneider):

In New York people can't just go around taking their time like they do in other cities; there is more work to be done than they can handle in a day, so they have to rush to get their work out on time.

In New York people have to make every minute count. They can't afford to waste any time like they do in other places.

In New York the life is fast and if you want to get anywhere you have to push and shove a little or somebody will get there before you.

In New York you have to get there early if you want to get a seat in a restaurant or a theatre or a night club.

Private Schneider gives a few more reasons, but these will suffice.

"I would appreciate it very much", he concludes, "if you'd lay off New York and pick on some other place! Why don't you pick on Florida? It isn't so perfect".

There is an old Latin proverb "De gustibus non est disputandum"—there is no arguing about tastes. So let Mr. Schneider like his New York and let me like my Connecticut—and Florida.

At any rate, it seems to me that liking or disliking a place is strictly a matter of personal taste.

We have had many invitations from readers to spend some time with them. Every one of these invitations claimed that the place where the prospective host lives is the best place on earth.

We have had such invitations from Texas and Ohio, from Pennsylvania and California, from Michigan and Massachusetts, from Cuba and Venezuela.

Every one of them was right—their place is the best place in the whole world.

Because each place, be it in the dust bowl of Texas or the ice fields of Alaska, is their home.

It is the place where they have their roots, where they live and love, where the trees are their own trees and their bit of land belongs to them, body and soul.

So my dear Private Schneider, I don't blame you for liking New York and for not liking Florida.

Florida, to you, is only a place in which to drill, and your "next of kin" there is probably your sergeant.

But remember that many thousands of people love Florida beyond anything else in the world, because it is home to them.

As for you—God bless New York, including Brooklyn. I give it to you with all my heart and soul.

SUGGESTION FROM MR. HOOVER

Tenseness of the international situation, due to the Communist coup in Hungary, together with focusing of public interest in the tax reduction and labor issues, unfortunately diverted public attention from the important suggestions of former President Hoover on the subject of foreign relief. The theme of Mr. Hoover's statements, made in a letter to Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was the danger of depleting too rapidly and on too large a scale our own resources by excessive exports to distressed nations. It was a timely warnings in view of the tremendous commitments already made and in the making.

Mr. Hoover calls attention to the substantial rise in food prices, due largely to our heavy exports of grain. (Corn futures passed the Two Dollar mark on the Chicago Board of Trade a few days ago, the explnation being heavy exports.) He notes that our shipments, principally to Europe, have made heavy inroads on our railway and factory equipment and our construction materials. He further reminds us that overseas shipments of such basic commodities as iron, oil, metals and other items, none of which are renewable, have been in such quantity as to imperil our own future security. (During the week ending July 12th, some five hundred thousand barrels of oil were shipped from San Pedro and Wilmington, California, to Russia.)

Makes Vital Point

Mr. Hoover makes a vital point in saying that when our exports of essential commodities exceed our surplus, the American consumer must suffer shortages, higher prices and lowered living standards. Shortages, higher prices and lowered standards automatically create a demand for wage increase, sand set in motion the inflationary spiral. He reminds us of the fact too frequently overlooked: that our gifts and "loans" to other nations are not made in actual money, but in goods and credits to buy goods.

As one method of offsetting our

Straws In The Wind

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Like bloodthirsty desk-soldiers who begin to holler for combat while the cease-fire order is being processed, chairborne members of Congress filled last-minute hoppers of the Senate and House with fighting-mad legislation. Two examples will suffice.

Senator Pepper, Florida Democrat, came out valiently for American motherhood on July 24.

Representative Gearhart, California Republican, began to bleed for the American taxpayer on July 25.

Congress adjourned on July 26 before either bill had a chance of passage.

Pepper Case More Touching

The Pepper case is the more touching because it shows how a politician can have his ups and downs. When President Roosevelt was riding high, there was never a more faithful rider on his coat tails than Claude Pepper. The Floridian paid full fare for the ride by showering his benefactor with the incense of praise and flattery. Once Pepper was reported to have cried out in his ecstacsy of admiration: "My highest ambition is to nominate Franklin Roosevelt for President of the World".

Roosevelt-loving was a pretty useful enthusiasm for a Southern Democrat in 1936-44 (circa), and since FDR's death Pepper has looked in vain for another such patron. He has now, however, come up with a cause that no one can quarrel with in principle. The maternity bill he introduced would provide $20 million and up per annum for the care of mothers and children. Similar legislation was introduced in 1945 and 1946, and Pepper had had since January to produce the present bill. The reason he waited so long cannot be because the birth rate was suspended for seven months. A better guess is that Pepper wished to have a fresh and noble subject to discuss with his constituents this summer recess.

Does Better Than Pepper

Representative Gearhart seems to have done even better than the Senator in this respect. Tax relief may not rate with mother-love as heart interest, but Gearhart has seized a numerical advantage. Less than three million voting mothers would be personally affected by the Pepper measure, whereas the Gearhart bill is aimed to liberate 19 million persons from paying income taxes.

The California's idea is to hike the exemption level by about $1000 so as to relieve voters in the low and medium income brackets. This would reduce Federal revenues by $9.7 billion, says Gearhart. But his bill would recover $6.4 billion by levying a tax on processed goods like gasoline, coffee, tea, tobacco and electrical energy. Since these things are bought by rich and poor alike, it is difficult to see where anybody saves money. But at least Gearhart can tell California voters this summer that he tried to reduced their taxes.

Both these bell-ringer bills, and others like them, are straws which show which way the wind is blowing. It is blowing toward political normalcy. This means that the recess speeches of the average legislator will tend to ignore the big issues in favor of safe generalities.

One reason for this is that the big issues are not clearly drawn along party lines.

Invented Global Responsibility

The Democrats invented the idea of global responsibility, but bipartisan support has almost robbed them of the monopoly. The Republicans were forced to make their bed in the Labor Bill, but they have had plenty of Democratic company. Opposition to the Taft-Hartley Act came from the Administration as distinct from the Senate and House Democrats, many of whom helped override the veto. Both parties have theoretically endorsed tax-cuts and have only differed as to how and when.

Only Senator Taft, a most exceptional man in many ways, is likely to use the summer recess to discuss real issues with the people. Taft is the one real leader who has left a crack in the door for some modified return to isolationism—and this may be very significant. The first sign of skepticism about the Marshall plan was expressed when the Republican House voted for traveling committees to inspect U. S. spendings abroad. Taft, the advocate of economy, stands to profit if this skepticism grows.

But aside from the Ohio Senator and possibly the President, member of both parties will take their cues from Pepper and Gearhart. They will spend the summer endorsing such old stand-bys as maternity, patriotism, lower taxes, the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

A spectacular shift in the British Labor government's nationalization policy was predicted in the wake of a decision by Building Trade Union leaders to revive the "bonus" principle as an incentive to increased production.

Complicated—as most labor and union measures are—the decision is of utmost importance.

By coincidence, the resolution follows closely a warning voiced by Pope Pius XII against excessive nationalization of industry.

See Policy Change

And while there is no apparent connection between these two events, it is extremely likely that the next few months will witness a major reorientation in the labor government's policy of curbing private initiative in behalf of states control and production.

The trade unions obviously and inevitably wield tremendous influence with a labor regime. If other organizations follow the lead of the Building Trades many important developments may be anticipated.

These are some salient factors:

Salient Factors

1—The Socialist government's nationalization program has made the United States wary of additional loans to Britain, with the result that England is planning to dig into her gold reserves.

2.—Up to now, the British have been demanding nationalization of coal and transport in the Ruhr Valley of Germany, a sharply-debated point which has stood in the way of complete Anglo-American agreement on economic revival of the Reich.

3.—The government of Prime Minister Attlee on the home front has been criticized bitterly for some of its tactics. Opponents hold that state supremacy has tended to destroy private initiative, with the result that production has lagged and the slogan "export or die" has lapsed into a prophesy of doom.

Fear Mass Unemployment

There is no question that fear of mass unemployment in the United Kingdom has led in recent months to a revival of the old Scottish philosophy of "Ca'canny," which in effect denotes a slow-up in order that available work shall be spread among the greatest possible number.

At the recent Labor Party conference in Margate, this system was bitterly attacked, but at the same time heavy emphasis was placed upon the crying necessity for application of incentive if the full production facilities of the nation are to be exploited to obtain foreign credits that are so vitally needed.

Britain's "Battle of Production" is as vital to her future existence as the war-time "Battle of Britain" ever was. Despite wartime damage, she has the equipment she needs in virtually every field save coal and textiles. The significant lack has been turnout—day by day and hour by hour. The building unions have presented a reversal of theory that could quickly turn the tide from failure to victory.

Hints On Etiquette

Special thought should be given to lighting when one entertains at cards. Tables should be softly illuminated by floor lamps, one at each table, if possible.

Rizika's
Same Store--Same Management

Although long contemplated, very serious thought was given before we discarded our old name which for the past twenty-five years had identified us as a reliable store for fine Diamonds, Jewelry and nationally advertised Watches.

Needless to say, the important thing is not a store's name or label. What counts are the quality, dependability, and good value of its merchandise and services. In these there has not been, nor will there be, any change. The same store and the same people, policies, and facilities that have served you for the past twenty-five years, will continue.

Please accept our thanks for your valued patronage, and be assured that it will be our pleasure, as in the past, to continue serving you.

WASHINGTON CALLING

200,000 employees. Equally important is the extent of the reforms which Bradley, with his patience, his tenacity and his fighting spirit, has initiated.

When he became head of the VA two years ago, he found it was pretty much under the thumb of the professional veterans' lobby dominated by the American Legion. Outsiders who were powerful in the veterans' organizations gave the orders behind the scenes.

Serious Abuses

This had led to serious abuses. Men were kept in VA hospitals as pensioners even though they were not in need of medical care. In some cases, Bradley discovered, privileged veterans would establish themselves in VA hospitals in the south in the winter, and then, with the coming of hot weather, they would move to a VA hospital in cool New England. One result was that less privileged veterans in need of hospitalization were kept on long-waiting lists.

Even more serious was the fact that first-class doctors would have nothing to do with the VA. They found that their orders were overruled by politics.

Bradley has changed all that. Clashing openly with the veterans' lobby, he has abolished privilege. With the aid of his able assistant, Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, chief medical director of VA, Bradley has persuaded leading physicians and the top medical schools to participate in the program of retraining and rehabilitation.

Makes It Sound Easy

Summarizing in this way makes it sound easy. It has not been easy. Every step has meant a fight. Other obstacles have stood in Bradley's path. Inflation has boosted the cost of building new hospitals by 50 per cent, so that the VA can build only about half of the additional hospitals so badly needed.

Bradley knows better than anyone else how quickly these reforms can be wiped out, since they are still so new. In two or three years, when the new system is well established, it can stand up against the assault of those who would go back to the old methods.

It is this that makes the choice of the new director critically important. It can make or break the new VA with its vast load of responsibility from World War II.

Hershey Suggested

The candidate of the American Legion is generally understood to be Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who was head of selective service during the war and is now winding up that operation. The present head of the legion, Paul H. Griffith, was with Hershey in selective service.

While recognizing the efficiency of Hershey's wartime performance, President Truman is said to have passed over him in his search for a new director of VA. The President is anxious to find a man who will be free of any commitments or connection, a man concerned with the interests of all veterans.

The salary is $12,000. If his successor follows Bradley's routine, he will spend his days and many of his nights in conferences and meetings, making decisions on which the welfare of millions of men and women depend. In a following column, some of the problems Bradley has faced will be discussed.

(Copyright, 1947, By United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

THE PARENT PROBLEM

great social prestige and influence in their community that a child should not be required to do anything he does not feel like doing—one of the basic teachings of Progressive Education.

Make Jobs Attractive

Many conscientious parents who have been led astray by this silly doctrine have done their utmost to make jobs about the home attractive. Having failed to get desirable results these parents have blamed themselves for failure, or even blamed the child for laziness or lack of love of his parents.

Proceeding to do practically all the work about the home themselves, some of these parents have grown annoyed at these children's failure to help them about the home. As a result the parent-child relationships have grown impaired, even strained. Then as the irresponsible non-helping child grows older and older, he is less and less inclined to share in the home responsibilities. Many parents of children over ten or so might as well "put up and shut up."

Parental Authority

The wise parent begins early to establish parental authority, holding the child strictly to routines like going to bed at a regular hour and coming into the house when the lights appear; also to assign a few regular jobs to the child he cannot escape anymore than breathing. My bulletin, "How to Teach Child to Help at Home" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 E. 45th street, New York, N. Y.

No harm in trying to make the jobs attractive, but there is harm in assuming there should be no requirements. Don't trust to talk. If the child does not do the assigned job promptly make him pay a penalty, such as sitting without any amusement for a definite time several times as long as the job might have required.

TOOTH-BRUSHING SNAKE

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill.—(INS)—Snakes in Hardin County, Illinois, recently were the recipients of three toothbrushes. Mrs. Marvin Osman of Elizabethtown found a chicken snake coiled around the family toothbrush rack. The snake had dropped from the roof gutter to an open door and then to the toothbrush rack. Mrs. Osman's sister, visiting from Chicago, killed the snake with a hoe and carried it outside. Mrs. Osman threw the brushes outside for other snakes to use.

export. Mr. Hoover suggests that we obtain at least partial compensation in imports and essential commodities of which we are short and stockpile them for needed use. Among these items are tin, manganese, iron ore, copper, mercury, lead, zinc, tungsten, chromite, nickel and rubber. While we are anxious to aid struggling countries by taking as large a quantity of imports as possible it would be a blow to our own economy to take goods which we produce ourselves, thereby creating unemployment.

Practical Steps

As practical steps in dealing with relief, Mr. Hoover suggests that we should periodically estimate the goods and services which we can safely export and limit purchases of our commodities by limiting gifts and loans". We should insist that in return for our sacrifices, which are inherent in all loans and gifts, that all nations recipient of our economic aid cooperate with us in measures to reduce the burdens upon us, to promote productivity and bring peace to the world at large. We should coordinate our relief activities, including the Export-Import Bank, the World Bank, the Stabilization Fund and direct appropriations.

Last of all, but not least in importance, says the former president, "We should concentrate our limited resources in the areas in which western civilization can be preserved."

There is nothing in the Hoover recommendations to which all thoughtful Americans cannot subscribe. Congress and the people generally should give them the fullest consideration.

In some cases, Bradley discovered, privileged veterans would establish themselves in VA hospitals in the south in the winter, and then, with the coming of hot weather, they would move to a VA hospital in cool New England. One result was that less privileged veterans in need of hospitalization were kept on long-waiting lists.

Even more serious was the fact that first-class doctors would have nothing to do with the VA. They found that their orders were overruled by politics.

Bradley has changed all that. Clashing openly with the veterans' lobby, he has abolished privilege. With the aid of his able assistant, Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, chief medical director of VA, Bradley has persuaded leading physicians and the top medical schools to participate in the program of retraining and rehabilitation.

Makes It Sound Easy

Summarizing in this way makes it sound easy. It has not been easy. Every step has meant a fight. Other obstacles have stood in Bradley's path. Inflation has boosted the cost of building new hospitals by 50 per cent, so that the VA can build only about half of the additional hospitals so badly needed.

Bradley knows better than anyone else how quickly these reforms can be wiped out, since they are still so new. In two or three years, when the new system is well established, it can stand up against the assault of those who would go back to the old methods.

It is this that makes the choice of the new director critically important. It can make or break the new VA with its vast load of responsibility from World War II.

Hershey Suggested

The candidate of the American Legion is generally understood to be Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who was head of selective service during the war and is now winding up that operation. The present head of the legion, Paul H. Griffith, was with Hershey in selective service.

While recognizing the efficiency of Hershey's wartime performance President Truman is said to have passed over him in his search for a new director of VA. The President is anxious to find a man who will be free of any commitments or connection—a man concerned with the interests of all veterans.

The salary is $12,000. If his successor follows Bradley's routine, he will spend his days and many of his nights in conferences and meetings, making decisions on which the welfare of millions of men and women depend. In a following column, some of the problems Bradley has faced will be discussed.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

great social prestige and influence in their community that a child should not be required to do anything he does not feel like doing—one of the basic teachings of Progressive Education.

Make Jobs Attractive

Many conscientious parents who have been led astray by this silly doctrine have done their utmost to make jobs about the home attractive. Having failed to get desirable results these parents have blamed themselves for failure, or even blamed the child for laziness or lack of love of his parents.

Plodding on to do practically all the work about the home themselves, some of these parents have grown annoyed at these children's failure to help them about the home. As a result the parent-child relationships have grown impaired, even strained. Then as the irresponsible non-helping child grows older and older, he is less and less inclined to share in the home responsibilities. Many parents of children over ten or so might as well "put up and shut up."

Parental Authority

The wise parent begins early to establish parental authority, holding the child strictly to routines like going to bed at a regular hour and coming into the house when the lights appear; also to assign a few regular jobs to the child he cannot escape anymore than breathing. My bulletin, "How to Teach Child to Help at Home" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 E. 45th street, New York, N. Y.

No harm in trying to make the jobs attractive, but there is harm in assuming there should be no requirements. Don't trust to talk. If the child does not do the assigned job promptly make him pay a penalty, such as sitting without any amusement for a definite time several times as long as the job might have required.

TOOTH-BRUSHING SNAKE

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill.—(INS)—Snakes in Hardin County, Illinois, recently were the recipients of three toothbrushes. Mrs. Marvin Osman of Elizabethtown found a chicken snake coiled around the family toothbrush rack. The snake had dropped from the roof gutter to an open door and then to the toothbrush rack. Mrs. Osman's sister, visiting from Chicago, killed the snake with a hoe and carried it outside. Mrs. Osman threw the brushes outside for other snakes to use.

exports, Mr. Hoover suggests that we obtain at least partial compensation in imports and essential commodities of which we are short and stockpile them for needed use. Among these items are tin, manganese, iron ore, copper, mercury, lead, zinc, tungsten, chromite, nickel and rubber. While we are anxious to aid struggling countries by taking as large a quantity of imports as possible it would be a blow to our own economy to take goods which we produce ourselves, thereby creating unemployment.

Practical Steps

As practiacl steps in dealing with relief, Mr. Hoover suggests that we should 'periodically estimate the goods and services which we can safely export and limit purchases of our commodities by limiting gifts and loans". We should insist that in return for our sacrifices, which are inherent in all loans and gifts, that all nations recipient of our economic aid cooperate with us in measures to reduce the burdens upon us, to promote productivity and bring peace to the world at large. We should coordinate our relief activities, including the Export-Import Bank, the World Bank, the Stabilization Fund and direct appropriations.

Last of all, but not least in importance, says the former president, "We should concentrate our limited resources in the areas in which western civilization can be preserved."

There is nothing in the Hoover recommendations to which all thoughtful Americans cannot subscribe. Congress and the people generally should give them the fullest consideration.

Shoots Daughter, Wounds His Wife, Then Kills Self

RENO, July 31.—(INS)—Harvey Graham, 42, former New York newspaperman and veteran of the war in the South Pacific, shot and killed his two-year-old daughter, wounded his wife and then killed himself early today at his ranch home five miles southwest of Reno.

Sheriff's deputies said three other children were unharmed.

The deputies said Graham left two notes, largely incoherent, indicating he had been brooding over financial troubles.

They quoted his wounded wife Louise, 38, as saying he also suffered from shellshock as a result of his experience in the South Pacific where he served as an army technical sergeant.

Mrs. Graham was rushed to a hospital in Reno were attendants said she probably would recover.

NEW CONVEYOR BELT

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—A steel grid conveyor belt that can turn corners with tipping—moves a product uphill or down, horizontally straigh ahead, has been designed for Indusrial Process Lines.

The American Steel & Wire Co., of Waukegan, Ill., which designed the belt, said not only does the new conveyor accommodate all the space needs of a three-ring industrial circus, but its open construction provides the air circulation required for cooling light weight products while in motion.

The island of Guam has a congress, but control of the government is in the hands of the United States navy.

Investigation Of Bus Fares Here Now Completed

Public Utility Commission Has Information To Make Decision On Rates Charged

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—Testimony in the three-year-old investigation of the reasonableness of fares charged by the Shenango Valley Transportation Co., of New Castle, today was scrutinized by the Public Utility Commission.

There was no indication when a ruling would be returned.

A three-day hearing in Harrisburg was concluded yesterday with testimony by Company Controller Harry Warshawsky.

Expenses Increase

He told Examiner J. Harvey Line that the company experienced $23,269 increase in operating expenses during the first five months of 1947, while operating revenue increased only $22,350 in the same period.

Operating revenue for the first five months of 1947 was $274,103 and operating expenses totaled $235,563, he asserted.

The company showed a net operating income of $38,540 during the first five months of the year compared to $39,458 during the same period last year, he added.

Cost To Replace Buses

Edward A. Roberts, New York consulting engineer, testified that a reproduction cost estimate which he prepared for Shenango showed it would cost the company $313,104 to replace its fleet of 40 buses and fare boxes, compared with their original combined cost of $211,439.

The PUC had been investigating the utility's fares in New Castle since 1944 and fares in Sharon, Farrell, Sharpsville and Wheatland since 1941. Rates being studied included 10-cent cash fares, sales of eight tickets for 50 cents and $1 weekly passes.

St. Cecilia was a Roman virgin and martyr of the third century. According to tradition, she sang hymns of praise to the accompaniment of an organ, an instrument similar to the Pandean pipes. So lovely was her music that an angel descended from the skies to listen to her. She is the patron saint of sacred music.

Reply To Soviet Conference Plan Prepared By U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Under Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett said today that the United States is preparing a reply to the Soviet proposal for a "Far Eastern Big Four" conference before further action is taken on the Japanese peace treaty.

Lovett declined to disclose the nature of the reply. He explained that the preliminary draft of the U.S. note has not been completed.

Asked about reports that China has urged that the three powers which bore the brunt of the war against Japan have a stronger voice in the treaty than other allied nations, Lovett said he had not seen the question raised.

Taxes Incense French People

Schuman Plan Has Put "Squeeze" On Nation; Average Person Up In Arms

PARIS.—(INS)—If anyone wonders why the French are excited today, the reason can be found in the Ramadier government's new fiscal program which has been approved by the National Assembly after hours of tumultuous debate, and which makes the "soak-the-rich" schemes Americans have experienced look like Sunday school stuff.

The French tax plan, contrived by tough-minded Robert Schuman, hits the public sideways, frontwards and obliquely, and the French people are beginning to wonder how much it will cost them to sneeze.

New Angles to Plan

There are so many new angles to Schuman's plan, which the French Communists call a "program for misery," that it's hard to know where to begin. Take alcohol, for example. Schuman has devised new taxes on manufacture of alcohol. The result will be that from now on whenever a Frenchman tosses back a cognac, his pocketbook will let out another scream.

Schuman also has thought up new taxes on public houses (saloons) bars, night clubs and cabarets that start business from now on. That is, if a Frenchman starts a cabaret, he will pay more taxes than his rival down the street, who was in business before the Schuman plan went through.

Ordinary pleasure cars will be taxed at the rate of four thousand francs per year per horse-power.

If you have your principal residence in town and a week-end hide-out somewhere in the country, the tax collector will get you for that, too.

While increasing its revenues drastically, the government at the same time is effecting no less drastic cuts in its expenses and some of these will immediately result in higher living costs for tax payers.

30 Billion Franc Reduction

The new plan calls for a reduction of 30 billion francs in the state's military and civil expenses.

In addition, it cuts from six to three billion francs the government subsidies to the "agricultural solidarity fund," by which the government gives special assistance to certain types of farmers.

One measure that French workers are up in arms about is the suppression of the government subsidies on wheat and milk. This is going to wallop the pocketbooks of everybody in the form of higher prices for wheat and milk.

It looks as if Schuman just about has 40 million Frenchmen over the barrel.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 31.—(INS)—State police today were seeking Lollie Black of Fallowfield township, near Washington, for questioning in the ambush slaying Wednesday night of his Brother-in-law, Edward Kuhar, Ep.

Necktie Derby Is 'Hot' Affair

Kiwanis Club Members Stage Contest To See Who Has Loudest Necktie Wednesday Noon

New Castle Kiwanis club members had a merry time Wednesday noon deciding who had the hottest necktie on display around their neck at their weekly meeting in The Castleton. This was put on after William R. Hanna had announced plans for the horse show to be held at Wampum August 22 and 23, and had announced his committees.

Neckties which would make one blush with envy were displayed, a lot of them being home-made affairs. For instance, Russ Forney had a necktie fashioned from shoestrings, on which a butterfly which flapped its wings realistically. Past President John Alexander had one connected up with a battery which flashed a red light signal on the slightest provocation.

The winners at the various tables were Wayne Sines, John McGrath, John J. Alexander, Russell Forney and President Joe Hartman, each of whom received a pair of dark glasses to keep their eyes from becoming inflamed. Then in the rundown to pick a winner John McGrath emerged the champion with a creation which was positively stunning. He received a nice tie pin set.

This part of the program was hooked up by telephone and went to the home of Past President Kenneth H. Beck, who is laid up by illness and no doubt was thoroughly enjoyed by him, as there was a great deal of hilarity with the program. John R. Hodge had charge of this feature.

Camp Meeting Services Open

Free Methodists Of District Open Meetings At Old Golf Grounds In Croton

WILL EXTEND TO SUNDAY, AUGUST 10

Memories of the sawdust trail days of Billy Sunday and other evangelists are being revived in the Croton district of the city.

Rev. Splitstone

This evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the first service of the New Castle District Free Methodist church camp meeting will get under way on Marshall field, better known as the old country club site, which is bounded by Vine and Scott streets just two blocks from Croton avenue.

Rev. Paul R. Splitstone, New Castle District Superintendent of the Free Methodist Church, with his co-workers since early spring have been readying the 23 acre site for the first camp meeting which will run from this evening, until Sunday August 10.

The new camp site of the Free Methodist supplants the old camping ground located on the outskirts of Sharpsville, which served as a summer meeting place for the past 23 years. Previous to that time, the church held camps out in Cunningham Woods, South east of the city it is reported.

Many Tents Erected

Approaching the camp ground from the Vine street side, a view of the large cafeteria and two rest rooms is seen. Coming closer, 40 tents size ten by twelve are seen, which for the present season will be the temporary homes of out of town folks coming to the camp grounds for the meeting. It is planned to erect a number of cottages on the grounds later for use of some who will perhaps remain on the grounds during the summer months.

A large tabernacle type tent has been raised and will be used this year for the preaching services. It will accomodate several hundred people. Before camp time next year, the permanent 75-100 foot concrete block tabernacle will have been erected for use of the annual meetings.

Grounds Illuminated

Although much work needs to be done to the grounds yet, much credit must be given to Rev. Splitstone and his workmen, who have labored tirelessly to give the area a camp meeting atmosphere. The grounds have been electrified, and water and gas have been piped in. The workers, with the exception of those on the camp program, give their time free.

The first speaker on the camp program, will be Rev. R. M. Fine, evangelist of Chicago, Ill., who will be heard tonight, following the old fashioned song service which will be led by William Jameson of Sharpsville, Pa.

Services Daily

Daily services of the camp start at 6:45 Friday morning with the rising bell, which is followed by a prayer service at 7 a. m. Breakfast is served at 7:30 o'clock. Other main services are 10 a. m., 1:45 p. m. and 7:15 p. m. Dinner is served at noon and supper at 5:15 p. w.

Other speakers during the camp period are: Dr. Harold C. Mason, preacher and Bible teacher of Chicago: Miss Mary Tabor, Belleville, Mich., Mrs. James Hudson Taylor, missionary; assisted by the following Free Methodist pstors, Rev. J. E. Kiffer, Rev. H. C. Jacobs, Rev. J. A. Miller, Rev. Gerald Booser, Rev. Lance Kennedy, Rev. E. Lorena Maynard, Rev. R. R. Blews, Rev. Wilbur Jacocks, Rev. Elton Fox, and Rev. P. M. McGaffic.

Mother Saves Baby From Death In Fire

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—A young Pittsburgh mother rescued her six-month-old baby today after she and her father-in-law had leaped from the roof of a porch to escape a fire that swept their home.

When William Detisch, 68, discovered the fire, he called his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Detisch, 20. She picked up the infant, Roy, Jr., and they went through a window onto the porch roof, leaving the infant on the roof.

She then climbed on a chair and pulled the child over the edge to safety. He suffered a bruised abdomen.

Damage to the home was estimated at $3000.

Goes To Sleep In Phone Booth

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—A drug store telephone booth may not be a good place for trombone-playing, but one can sleep there, as Jack Kilkeary, 37, Pittsburgh taxi driver, can attest.

Kilkeary fell asleep in a phone booth last night, and when he woke up the drug store had been closed for the night.

He called police, who roused the manager from sleep. Two hours later Kilkeary was released.

Camp Meeting Services Open

Free Methodists Of District Open Meetings At Old Golf Grounds In Croton

WILL EXTEND TO SUNDAY, AUGUST 10

Memories of the sawdust trail days of Billy Sunday and other evangelists are being revived in the Croton district of the city.

Rev. Splitstone

This evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the first service of the New Castle District Free Methodist church camp meeting will get under way on Marshall field, better known as the old country club site, which is bounded by Vine and Scott streets just two blocks from Croton evenue.

Rev. Paul R. Splitstone, New Castle District Superintendent of the Free Methodist Church, with his co-workers since early spring have been readying the 23 acre site for the first camp meeting which will run from this evening, until Sunday August 10.

The new camp site of the Free Methodist supplants the old camping ground located on the outskirts of Sharpsville, which served as a summer meeting place for the past 23 years. Previous to that time, the church held camps out in Cunningham Woods, South east of the city it is reported.

Many Tents Erected

Approaching the camp ground from the Vine street side, a view of the large cafeteria and two rest rooms is seen. Coming closer, 40 tents size ten by twelve are seen, which for the present season will be the temporary homes of out of town folks coming to the camp grounds for the meeting. It is planned to erect a number of cottages on the grounds later for use of some who will perhaps remain on the grounds during the summer months.

A large tabernacle type tent has been raised and will be used this year for the preaching services. It will accomodate several hundred people. Before camp time next year, the permanent 75-100 foot concrete block tabernacle will have been erected for use of the annual meetings.

Grounds Illuminated

Although much work needs to be done to the grounds yet, much credit must be given to Rev. Splitstone and his workmen, who have labored tirelessly to give the area a camp meeting atmosphere. The grounds have been electrified, and water and gas have been piped in. The workers, with the exception of those on the camp program, give their time free.

The first speaker on the camp program, will be Rev. R. M. Fine, evangelist of Chicago, Ill., who will be heard tonight, following the old fashioned song service which will be led by William Jameson of Sharpsville, Pa.

Services Daily

Daily services of the camp start at 6:45 Friday morning with the rising bell, which is followed by a prayer service at 7 a. m. Breakfast is served at 7:30 o'clock. Other main services are 10 a. m., 1:45 p. m. and 7:15 p. m. Dinner is served at noon and supper at 5:15 p. w.

Other speakers during the camp period are: Dr. Harold C. Mason, preacher and Bible teacher of Chicago; Miss Mary Tabor, Belleville, Mich., Mrs. James Hudson Taylor, missionary; assisted by the following Free Methodist pstors, Rev. J. E. Kiffer, Rev. H. C. Jacobs, Rev. J. A. Miller, Rev. Gerald Booser, Rev. Lance Kennedy, Rev. E. Lorena Maynard, Rev. R. R. Blews, Rev. Wilbur Jacocks, Rev. Elton Fox, and Rev. P. M. McGaffic.

Mother Saves Baby From Death In Fire

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—A young Pittsburgh mother rescued her six-month-old baby today after she and her father-in-law had leaped from the roof of a porch to escape a fire that swept their home.

When William Detisch, 63, discovered the fire, he called his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Detisch, 20. She picked up the infant, Roy, Jr., and they went through a window onto the porch roof, leaving the infant on the roof.

She then climbed on a chair and pulled the child over the edge to safety. He suffered a bruised abdomen.

Damage to the home was estimated at $3000.

Goes To Sleep In Phone Booth

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—A drug store telephone booth may not be a good place for trombone-playing, but one can sleep there, as Jack Kilkeary, 37, Pittsburgh taxi driver, can attest.

Kilkeary fell asleep in a phone booth last night, and when he woke up the drug store had been closed for the night.

He called police, who rouseed the manager from sleep. Two hours later Kilkeary was released.

B. And O. Buys Big Engines For Use In District

Thirteen Big Mountain Type Locomotives Have Been Bought From Boston And Maine Railroad

Purchase of 13 big mountain type locomotives from the Boston and Maine Railroad, for use in high speed freight service between New Castle and Chicago, was announced today by Roy B. White, president of the B. & O. Railroad.

These locomotives have [illegible] drivers, with 67,000 pounds tractive power, and a tender capacity of 21 tons of coal and 20,000 gallons of water. They compare favorably with the mountain type power now in use on the B. and O. and as soon as they have been repainted with the name of the new owner, and some other minor changes made, will be put in use here. Delivery is expected to start in a few days and be completed within two weeks.

President White also announced that over the last week-end the Baltimore and Ohio received delivery of 12 units of a 14-unit order for Diesel-electric passenger locomotives placed some months ago with Electro-Motive corporation. The remaining two units will be delivered within the next few days.

These units are of 1500 horsepower, and may be used singly, in pairs, threes or fours, depending upon the need of the service. A locomotive of three units will, for instance, take the Capitol Limited from Washington to Chicago over the Alleghenies without added helper engine service.

Dutch Elm Disease May Develop Here

Reported Quite Prevalent Across Ohio Line In Youngstown District

Dutch elm disease which is reported to have invaded Youngstown, also has a foothold in New Castle, it is reported by Owen P. Fox, city forester.

He said that only three or four trees in the city have the disease at present, but it would eventually reach here from Youngstown.

Dutch elm disease, reports Fox, is a fungus disease which is caused by small bugs or beetles. A tree, once affected, becomes almost like a petrified piece of wood. It dries up, twigs snap off, and soon the entire tree will shrivel up and die.

The disease attacks quickly, and in hot weather. Sprays have been used, but are not effective, and the only sure way to prevent the disease from spreading is to cut the tree down.

MARTIN GANTZ REUNION TO BE IN SEPTEMBER

Members of the Martin Gantz executive board met on Tuesday evening to discuss arrangements for the Martin Gantz reunion. It was decided to postpone the annual meeting until the first part of September. Notice of the date will be given later in The News, and regular notices will be sent to members.

Monoxide gas is one of the deadliest of gases. Colorless and odorless, it overcomes its victims before they are aware of any danger. When the victim's blood is one-third saturated with the gas, he dies. It requires only one part of this gas to a thousand parts of air, breathed for about a half hour, to render a healthy man unconscious.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 3 is Ruth 2; Proverbs 1:8-9; 2:1; 3:3; 4:1-6; 6:20-23; 10:1; 13:1; 15:5; 17:1, 6; 19:18; 22:6; 23:22-26, the Memory verse being Proverbs 6:20, "My son, keep the commandments of thy father, And forsake not the law of thy mother.")

The first part of our lesson is about Ruth, the Moabitess, who [illegible] by hard work, and was [illegible] to [illegible] her mother-in-law, Naomi. [illegible] Boaz [illegible] Naomi [illegible] her [illegible].

To get bread for herself and Naomi, Ruth told she would go to a field of wheat and follow the reapers to gather up the grain that they left in their gleaning. She did so, and the field she chose belonged to Boaz, a rich and very good man, who, after asking who the girl was and being told, told Ruth that he had spoken to his young men not to molest her [illegible].

He then told her to [illegible] other fields and to stay close by his maidens. That night when Ruth went home to Naomi she told her what Boaz had said and Naomi was pleased. She was also delighted at the amount of gleanings Ruth had brought home. She told Ruth that Boaz was a close kinsman of theirs. You remember, too, that Ruth and Boaz were eventually married.

In this lesson, which deals with parents and children, the story of Ruth is given because she was a loving and dutiful daughter to her dead husband's mother.

Father and Mother Best Trainers

While teachers, day and Sunday school, and many other persons have a great deal of influence in a child's life, the father and mother are the closest and most natural teachers of the child. In a normal home, the father and mother love the child better than anyone else on earth, and are most anxious that he shall grow up to be a good, kind, and upright man.

In return he should follow the advice given by Solomon in his proverbs: "My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother: For they shall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck." A child who has a good, God-fearing father and mother and one who has heeded their instruction never will forget them. In the midst of life's difficulties, when decisions are hard to make and temptation may come, he will remember their words and keep his integrity.

"Let not mercy and truth forsake thee; bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart." To teach a child to be kind — from the very first of his life and through his most impressionable years, the chances are, he will grow to be a kindly man—a good citizen and neighbor.

"Chasten thy son, seeing there is hope; And set not thy heart on his destruction."

"Train up a child in the way he should go; And when he is old he will not depart from it."

Punishment is necessary when the child willfully goes wrong — and knows it. Such punishment will not be resented when the child realizes that he deserves it. The wise child will accept it and later on be grateful for it. As Solomon says, "A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother."

It would be interesting to question the children about the ideas they have of [illegible] as they know it. What makes them happy at home and with their playmates? What are their ideas about good times? Do they realize simple pleasures, or do only expensive things appeal to them? Solomon says "Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife."

A happy home may be a very poor home as this world's standards go, a home where love and understanding dwell and where high ideals are cultivated. The home of the rich and prosperous may also be the same, and they may also be dwellings where only the shallowest standards of living are fostered, and where quarrels and heartbreaks are frequent.

A child of wise, loving parents will not need Solomon's instruction, "Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old. Buy the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom and instruction and understanding." His parents and their teachings will be dear to him all his life long.

This may, at first glance, seem a difficult subject in which to interest children, but after reading the text carefully, the teacher will discover so many ideas to impart to the children and so many things on which to draw them out, that it may well be one of the most interesting and instructive lessons of the year.

The Myrmidons were the followers of Achilles in the Trojan war. They were an old Thessalonian race who colonized the island of Aegina. According to Greek legend, Zeus peopled Thessaly by transforming the ants into men, hence myrmidons ("murmez" an ant).

B. And O. Buys Big Engines For Use In District

Thirteen Big Mountain Type Locomotives Have Been Bought From Boston And Maine Railroad

Purchase of 13 big mountain type locomotives from the Boston and Maine Railroad, for use in high speed freight service between New Castle and Chicago, was announced today by Roy B. White, president of the B. & O. Railroad.

These locomotives have 73-inch drivers, with 67,000 pounds tractive power, and a tender capacity of 21 tons of coal and 20,000 gallons of water. They compare favorably with the mountain type power now in use on the B. and O., and as soon as they have been repainted with the name of the new owner, and some other minor changes made, will be put in use here. Delivery is expected to start in a few days and be completed within two weeks.

President White also announced that over the last week-end the Baltimore and Ohio received delivery of 12 units of a 14-unit order for Diesel-electric passenger locomotives placed some months ago with Electro-Motive corporation. The remaining two units will be delivered within the next few days.

These units are of 1500 horsepower, and may be used singly, in pairs, threes or fours, depending upon the need of the service. A locomotive of three units will, for instance, take the Capitol Limited from Washington to Chicago over the Alleghenies, without added helper engine service.

Dutch Elm Disease May Develop Here

Reported Quite Prevalent Across Ohio Line In Youngstown District

Dutch elm disease which is reported to have invaded Youngstown, also has a foothold in New Castle, it is reported by Owen P. Fox, city forester.

He said that only three or four trees in the city have the disease at present, but it would eventually reach here from Youngstown.

Dutch elm disease, reports Fox, is a fungus disease which is caused by small bugs or beetles. A tree, once affected, becomes almost like a petrified piece of wood. It dries up, twigs snap off, and soon the entire tree will shrivel up and die.

The disease attacks quickly, and in hot weather. Sprays have been used, but are not effective, and the only sure way to prevent the disease from spreading is to cut the tree down.

MARTIN GANTZ REUNION TO BE IN SEPTEMBER

Members of the Martin Gantz executive board met on Tuesday evening to discuss arrangements for the Martin Gantz reunion. It was decided to postpone the annual meeting until the first part of September. Notice of the date will be given later in The News, and regular notices will be sent to members.

Monoxide gas is one of the deadliest of gases. Colorless and odorless, it overcomes its victims before they are aware of any danger. When the victim's blood is one-third saturated with the gas, he dies. It requires only one part of this gas to a thousand parts of air, breathed for about a half hour, to render a healthy man unconscious.

Parents And Their Children

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 3 is Ruth 2; Proverbs 1:8-9; 2; 3:3; 4:1-6; 6:20-23; 10:1; 13:1; 15:5; 17:1, 6; 19:18; 22:6; 23:22-26, the Memory verse being Proverbs 6:20, "My son, keep the commandments of thy father, And foresake not the law of thy mother.")

The first part of our lesson is about Ruth, the Moabite girl whose husband died, and who then refused to leave her mother-in-law, Naomi, but went with her to live at her former home, in Bethlehem. Ruth, you remember (as we had her story in a lesson last year), told Naomi that her people would be hers henceforth, and Naomi's God her God.

To get bread for herself and Naomi, Ruth said she would go to a field of wheat and follow the reapers to gather up the grain that they left in their gleaning. She did so, and the field she chose belonged to Boaz, a rich and very good man, who, after asking who this girl was and being told, told Ruth that he had spoken to his young men not to molest her in any way.

He then told her to glean in no other fields and to stay close by his maidens. That night, when Ruth went home to Naomi she told her what Boaz had said and Naomi was pleased. She was also delighted at the amount of gleanings Ruth had brought home. She told Ruth that Boaz was a close kinsman of theirs. You remember, too, that Ruth and Boaz were eventually married.

In this lesson, which deals with parents and children, the story of Ruth is given because she was a loving and dutiful daughter to her dead husband's mother.

Father and Mother Best Trainers

While teachers, day and Sunday school, and many other persons have a great deal of influence in a child's life, the father and mother are the closes and most natural trainers of the child. In a normal home, the father and mother love the child better than anyone else on earth and are most anxious that he shall grow up to be a good, kind, and upright man.

In return he should follow the advice given by Solomon in his proverbs: 'My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother: For they shall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck." A child who has a good, God-fearing father and mother and one who has heeded their instruction, never will forget them. In the midst of life's difficulties, when decisions are hard to make and temptation may come, he will remember their words and keep his integrity.

"Let not mercy and truth forsake thee; bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart." To teach a child to be kind—from the very first of his life and through his most impressionable years, the chances are, he will grow to be a kindly man—a good citizen and neighbor.

'Chasten thy son, seeing there is hope; And set not thy heart on his destruction.

"Train up a child in the way he should go, And even when he is old he will not depart from it."

Punishment is necessary when the child wilfully does wrong — and knows it. Such punishment will not be resented when the child realizes that he deserves it. The wise child will accept it and later on be gratfule for it. As Solomon says, 'A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother."

It would be interesting to question the children about the ideas they have on life as they know it. What makes them happy at home or with their playmates? What are their ideas about good times? Do they enjoy simple pleasures, or do only expensive things appeal to them? Solomon says "Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than an house full of sacrifices with strife."

A happy home may be a very poor home as this world's standards go, a home where love and understanding dwell and where high ideals are cultivated. The home of the rich and prosperous may also be the same, and they may also be dwellings where only the shallowest standards of living are fostered, and where quarrels and heartbreaks are frequent.

A child of wise, loving parents will not need Solomon's instruction, "Hearken unto the father that begat thee, and despise not they mother when she is old. Buy the truth and sell it not; also wisdom and instruction and understanding." His parents and their teachings will be dear to him all his life long.

This may, at first glance, seem a difficult subject in which to interest children, but after reading the text carefully, the teacher will discover so many ideas to impart to the children and so many things on which to draw them out, that it may well be one of the most interesting and instructive lessons of the year.

The Myrmidons were the followers of Achilles in the Trojan war. They were an old Thessalonian race who colonized the island of Aegina. According to Greek legend, Zeus peopled Thessaly by transforming the ants into men, hence myrmidons ("murmez" an ant).

Large Audience Witnesses Bathing Beauty And Hobby Contests Among Youngsters

On Wednesday afternoon, Mahoningtown playground resembled Atlantic City beach, with the many children strolling around in their bathing suits. Winners were chosen by the applause of the large crowd of spectators.

When it was found some small boys were appearing in their bathing suits, it was decided to have a little "Van Johnson". Three-year-old Patsy Mingione, red-headed and freckled, captured the banner. Barbora Adamo, in her crepe paper costume was chosen Miss Glamor Girl; her close contestant was Sarah Corkery of Chicago, a frequent visitor at the playground.

The hobby show proved of great interest to the audience. Pepper shakers, party hats, old books, elephants, stamp collections, were among the hobbies of the youngsters.

First prize was awarded to Mike Ferchaw for his neat collection of postage stamps, which were nicely mounted; second prize fell to Patricia Cearfoss for her cuite collection of salt and pepper shakers; she had 16 different types; third prize winner was Marilyn Shingler for her dog ornaments; those given honorable mention were George Leone, Dolly Masters and George Barber.

Plan For Lake On Indian Run

Farms Optioned As Initial Step In Proposed Lake Colony Project In Mercer County

MERCER, July 31.—Optioning of six farms in the district is reported as the initial step in a project to form a lake colony in the Indian Run district.

Proposed is construction of a dam across Indian Run to provide a lake about half a mile long, and arrange for home estates around the lake on a restricted building plan.

About 600 acres are reported under option, and the lake projected will be about 15-20 acres in extent.

The site is five miles south of Mercer and two miles west of the Perry highway.

Charles L. Rader of Mercer is heading the projected development, it is announced.

The balance wheel of a watch travels back and forth more than 6,000 miles a year in its normal movements.

Depth Bomb Is Dropped By Ship

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 31.—(INS)—Officers of the British cruiser H.M.S. Kenya revealed today they had dropped a small depth charge into a patch of bubbles in Los Angeles harbor after an anonymous warning of a possible Jewish extremist attack.

Investigation showed that the bubbles were caused by the exhaust of the cruiser's auxiliary motor.

Two Young Girl Run-A-Ways Are Apprehended Here

Rosie Reilly, 14, and Thelma Van Naulan, 15, both from a Huron, O. County Children's Home are in the Lawrence County Juvenile Home today, because of two suspicious truck operators, plus state police.

The girls retired to their beds in the Huron county home last night and during the stillness of the night sneaked away.

They were hitch-hiking when a truck came along. The girls were picked up by the truck drivers, of whom two were on the vehicle.

When they reached a point near New Castle on Route 422 the truck stopped and the girls asked the truck drivers to get them a cabin which they did.

Feeling they were run-a-ways the truck drivers telephoned the state police who found the girls asleep.

They were placed in charge of Juvenile Officer J. M. Dunlap.

Beauty And Hobby Playground Contest

Large Audience Witnesses Bathing Beauty And Hobby Contests Among Youngsters

On Wednesday afternoon, Mahoningtown playground resembled Atlantic City beach, with the many children strolling around in their bathing suits. Winners were chosen by the applause of the large crowd of spectators.

Little Miss Glamor girl was four years old Bobby Sowers; her runner up was Judy Shope. When it was found some small boys were appearing in their bathing suits, it was decided to have a little "Van Johnson". Three-year-old Patsy Mingione, red-headed and freckled, captured the banner. Barbora Adamo, in her crepe paper costume was chosen Miss Glamor Girl; her close contestant was Sarah Corkery of Chicago, a frequent visitor at the playground.

The hobby show proved of great interest to the audience. Pepper shakers, party hats, old books, elephants, stamp collections, were among the hobbies of the youngsters.

First prize was awarded to Mike Ferchaw for his neat collection of postage stamps, which were nicely mounted; second prize fell to Patricia Cearfoss for her cute collection of salt and pepper shakers; she had 16 different types; third prize winner was Marilyn Shingler for her dog ornaments; those given honorable mention were George Leone, Dolly Masters and George Barber.

Plan For Lake On Indian Run

Farms Optioned As Initial Step In Proposed Lake Colony Project In Mercer County

MERCER, July 31.—Optioning of six farms in the district is reported as the initial step in a project to form a lake colony in the Indian Run district.

Proposed is construction of a dam across Indian Run to provide a lake about half a mile long, and arrange for home estates around the lake on a restricted building plan.

About 600 acres are reported under option, and the lake projected will be about 15-20 acres in extent.

The site is five miles south of Mercer and two miles west of the Perry highway.

Charles L. Rader of Mercer is heading the projected development, it is announced.

Two Young Girl Run-A-Ways Are Apprehended Here

Rosie Reilly, 14, and Thelma Van Naulan, 15, both from a Huron, O., County Children's Home are in the Lawrence County Juvenile Home today, because of two suspicious truck operators, plus state police.

The girls retired to their beds in the Huron county home last night and during the stillness of the night sneaked away.

They were hitch-hiking when a truck came along. The girls were picked up by the truck drivers, of whom two were on the vehicle.

When they reached a point near New Castle on Route 422 the truck stopped and the girls asked the truck drivers to get them a cabin which they did.

Feeling they were run-a-ways the truck drivers telephoned the state police who found the girls asleep.

They were placed in charge of Juvenile Officer J. M. Dunlap.

City Hall

Given Permits To Build Sewers

Council Acting On Ordinances To Provide For East Side Sewers

OTHER NEWS OF CITY HALL ACTION

When council met Thursday in city hall, Director of Public Improvements James Gibson introduced two ordinances affecting the Jackson avenue, Wilson avenue, Vogan street district.

One permits John R. Mauthe and Howard C. Cummings to build sewers in Wooley street, Syling street, Jackson avenue and Gretchen street, following which they will become part of the city's system.

Another bill changes the Jackson avenue-Vogan street district from a B residential to a light business zone.

Both ordinances were sent to committee and reported favorably, as was one which permits the city to build a sewer in a portion of Vogan street to connect with Wilson avenue.

The government built a sanitary sewer in Vogan street when the trailer camp was located there but left a gap on the Morrone property. The city will fill in the gap with a sewer, according to the measure.

The city authorizes Assistant City Solicitor Robert Jameson to carry on negotiations with the Lawrence County Commissioners, by which it is desired to have the county place for bid three lots at Sampson and Rebecca streets. The city desires extended bus service to the end of Sampson street and hopes to acquire the lots as a "turn table" for buses.

BEAUTY SHOP ROBBED OF $250

Mary's Beauty Shop, 208 Woods Building was robbed of $250, Tuesday night, according to a report made yesterday to city police.

The money was left in a desk drawer, according to Miss Theresa Williams, proprietor.

Pope Confers With Vicar To Batavia

ROME, July 31.—(INS)—Pope Pius XII today received in private audience the Rev. Peter Willekens, apostolic vicar to Batavia, for a report of the Indonesian situation.

The prelate disclosed that Pope Pius is greatly interested in and is examining the feasibility of intervention to bring about a truce and new discussions between the Dutch government and Indonesian Republicans.

Senator Bricker To Endorse Taft

COLUMBUS, O., July 31.—(INS)—Ohio Republican party leaders will follow today the example of Sen. John W. Bricker in endorsing Sen. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati for the GOP presidential nomination in '48.

Formal endorsement of the Republican Senate leader as Ohio's "favorite son" candidate is scheduled for a noon meeting of the Republican state central and executive committee.

The action got the "unqualified" support of Bricker, who made public his endorsement of Taft's candidacy at a special news conference late Wednesday.

Bricker, in bowing out of the '48 picture, said he had urged the Ohio Republican organization to back Taft and "to put on a united program for Bob."

Given Permits To Build Sewers

Council Acting On Ordinances To Provide For East Side Sewers

OTHER NEWS OF CITY HALL ACTION

When council met Thursday in city hall, Director of Public Improvements James Gibson introduced two ordinances affecting the Jackson avenue, Wilson avenue, Vogan street district.

One permits John R. Manthe and Howard C. Cummings to build sewers in Wooley street, Syling street, Jackson avenue and Gretchen street, following which they will become part of the city's system.

Another bill changes the Jackson avenue-Vogan street district from a B residential to a light business zone.

Both ordinances were sent to committee and reported favorably, as was one which permits the city to build a sewer in a portion of Vogan street to connect with Wilson avenue.

The government built a sanitary sewer in Vogan street when the trailer camp was located there but left a gap on the Morrone property. The city will fill in the gap with a sewer, according to the measure.

The city authorizes Assistant City Solicitor Robert Jameson to carry on negotiations with the Lawrence County Commissioners, by which it is desired to have the county place for bid three lots at Sampson and Rebecca streets. The city desires extended bus service to the end of Sampson street and hopes to acquire the lots as a "turn table" for buses.

BEAUTY SHOP ROBBED OF $250

Mary's Beauty Shop, 208 West Building was robbed of $250, Tuesday night, according to a report made yesterday to city police.

The money was left in a desk drawer, according to Miss Theresa Williams, proprietor.

President Truman Is Taking Action On Congress Bills

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—President Truman drove steadily ahead today through the mass of legislation awaiting his attention following Congress' adjournment.

The chief executive, who signed 12 bills this morning, is expected to complete work by the middle of next week on the measures passed along to him by Congress.

Mr. Truman disposed of 59 bills yesterday after his return from the funeral of his 94-year-old mother.

The White House said that about 185 measures remain to be handled.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross spiked three new reports of the President's "travel plans"

Ross denied rumors that Mr. Truman would go to Alberta, Canada, early in September; that he would visit Las Vegas, N. M., in September, and that he would speak in Cleveland during the autumn.

Ross was still not ready to announce definite plans for a Presidential trip to Brazil during the inter-American conference in Rio Do Janeiro.

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—The Allegheny county coroner's office today said 19-month-old George W. Stevens, of Tarentum, died in a hospital after swallowing kerosene his grandmother accidentally spilled on him.

Kaiser-Hughes Flying Boat Plan Was Turned Down

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett testified today that the joint chiefs of staff turned thumbs down on the Kaiser-Hughes flying boat project in 1942 when they were straining to produce military planes for the North African invasion.

The former assistant secretary of war for air told the Senate war investigating committee that later, after Henry J. Kaiser and Howard Hughes won a contract for their flying boats, he was forced to "protest" against "pirating" of other aircraft workers by Kaiser and Hughes.

Wage Increases For Highway Workers

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—Wage increases ranging from five to 10 cents an hour, effective tomorrow, for an estimated 13,000 per diem maintenance workers were announced today by the State Highways Department.

Secretary Ray F. Smock said increases would boost the maximum hourly rate to $1.25 and the minimum scale to 85 cents.

The maximum rate will prevail for supervisory employes, while the minimum will be paid manual laborers.

The wage increases will give the state's hourly workers the "highest minimum wage scale of any state," he added.

The 40-hour work week for maintenance men will be increased during August and September to speed highway construction curtailed by excessive rains, Smock reported.

He emphasized that overtime rates would not apply during the rush season.

Plan To Organize Evangelical Group

Representing the Negro churches of the city, a meeting was held on July 27, for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of uniting the religious forces among Negro churches of New Castle.

President Truman Is Taking Action On Congress Bills

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—President Truman drove steadily ahead today through the mass of legislation awaiting his attention following Congress' adjournment.

The chief executive, who signed 12 bills this morning, is expected to complete work by the middle of next week on the measures passed along to him by Congress.

Mr. Truman disposed of 59 bills yesterday after his return from the funeral of his 94-year-old mother.

The White House said that about 185 measures remain to be [illegible].

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross spiked three new reports of the President's "travel plan."

Ross denied rumors that Mr. Truman would go to Alberta, Canada, early in September; that he would visit Las Vegas, N. M., in September, and that he would speak in Cleveland during the summer.

Ross was still not ready to announce definite plans for a Presidential trip to Brazil during the Inter-American conference in Rio De Janeiro.

Kaiser-Hughes Flying Boat Plan Was Turned Down

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett testified today that the joint chiefs of staff turned thumbs down on the Kaiser-Hughes flying boat project in 1942 when they were straining to produce military planes for the North African invasion.

The former assistant secretary of war for air told the Senate war investigating committee that later, after Henry J. Kaiser and Howard Hughes won a contract for their flying boats, he was forced to "protest against pirating" of other aircraft workers by Kaiser and Hughes.

Wage Increases For Highway Workers

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—Wage increases ranging from five to 10 cents an hour, effective tomorrow, for an estimated 12,000 per diem maintenance workers were announced today by the State Highways Department.

Secretary Roy E. Smock said increases would boost the maximum hourly rate to [illegible] and the minimum [illegible] to 85 cents.

The maximum rate will prevail for supervisory employes, while the minimum will be paid manual laborers.

The wage increases will give the state's hourly workers "the highest minimum wage scale of any state," he added.

The 40-hour work week for maintenance men will be increased during August and September to speed highway construction, [illegible] Smock reported.

He emphasized that overtime rates would not apply during the rush season.

TIMELY REMINDERS ON FLOWER GARDENS

Iceland poppies are readily started from seed in late July. Madonna lilies should be divided as soon as the flowering season is over—not in the spring.

Baby rambler roses will flower all summer if the old flower clusters are snipped off regularly.

Bachelor buttons which have finished their first blooming period may be made to flower again by shearing at least six inches from the tops of the plants then fertilizing with nitrate of soda or liquid manure.

Oriental poppies may be divided with every expectation of success. If roots are cut into two-inch pieces and planted in good soil, most of them will develop new plants.

Most climbing roses are best pruned as soon as they have finished blooming. Old canes may be removed where new ones develop.

Mulches, if deep and well matted, will conserve moisture and help control weeds.

Break or pull off suckers from grafted roses at their points of origin on the roots. If cut off at ground level they grow up again.

Only 113,000 Men In Combat Units Of U. S.

Most Of Troops In Occupation, 38,000 Here, House Committee Reports

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS) —The House armed services committee revealed Monday that the entire combat strength of the United States army now consists of approximately 113,000 men.

The committee's findings were made in a report to the House on a bill to establish compulsory universal military training, which the committee approved Saturday.

The House group declared that a single combat division, normally 15,000 men, and 12 constabulary regiments organized and equipped "for police duty," are located in Europe.

In Japan, it said, there are four combat divisions, or approximately 60,000 men.

The committee revealed that there are two and one-half "ready" divisions, approximately 38,000 men, in the United States.

It expressed fears that the overall military strength of the United States is, to quote the words of the president's advisory commission on Universal military training, a "hollow shell," unless there are adequate reserve components.

Units In Confusion

The committee added that "it is common knowledge that the majority of reserve components today are in an advanced state of confusion and staffed with only skeleton forces."

The committee declared that for security reasons it could not disclose "the state of readiness or training" of the reserve units.

However, the House group revealed that the National Guard consists of only 100,000 men, although its authorized strength is 682,000 men. It said the actual strength of the organized reserve corps is 110,000, compared with an authorized strength of 763,000.

As for the "unassigned reserve pool," as distinguished from organized units of the organized reserve corps, the committee revealed that it had an actual strength of one million, 200,000 compared to an authorized strength of three million men.

The committee added:

"It should be made clear that the one million, 200,000 members of the unassigned reserve pool are merely named on paper, untrained and unorganized. Morever, these figures do not reflect the state of readiness or training of any of the above units."

Cavity A Year In Pupils Teeth

Teeth Decaying Three Times Faster Than Being Filled, State Survey Shows

HARRISBURG, July 31—The permanent teeth of Pennsylvania children are decaying about three times as fast as they are being filled according to figures released today by the state department of health.

Compiled by the bureau of dental health, the statistics are from a study of the results of dental examinations of school children made under authority of the Pennsylvania School Health law during 1945-46.

In that year 425,154 children were examined. The study was based upon the reports of 143,237 examinations as follows: 54,835 from second class school districts, 34,317 from third class school districts and 54,085 from fourth class school districts.

Cavity A Year

Dr. Linwood G. Grace, director of the Bureau of Dental Health, said it was discovered that children between ages of 6 and 18 developed slighty less than one new cavity a year in permanent teeth.

"At 18 years of age the average child will have a little over 11 permanent teeth which have been attacked by decay," Dr. Grace said. "However, of that number only about a third (37 per cent) are filled. The others either need filling or extraction or had already been extracted. In other words, the permanent teeth of children are decaying about three times as fast as they are being filled.

Labeled Dentures Proves Identity

PUBELO, Colo. — (INS) — The Colorado State hospital at Pubelo has evolved a simple way of forestalling considerable expense through replacement of lost dental plates.

False teeth were always showing up in the laundry, washrooms or showers. With almost five thousand patients, many of them unable to co-operate, the staff found it almost impossible to restore lost teeth to owners.

Dr. G. H. Giddings, and Dr. Loren S. Fimple, hospital dentists, began branding the dentures with the owner's name.

Labeling the dentures with the owner's name.

Labeling the dentures proved so practical, the practice has been endorsed by the U. S. Secret Service as a means of identification. In the business world, a man could remove his dentures to prove his identity in cashing a check or on other occasions when it became necessary.

Insects Found Perfect Models In Air Research

WICHITA, Kans., July 31.—(INS) —The lowely insect won the praise of consulting research engineer William B. Stout in an address before the Society of Automotive Engineers, Personal Aircraft Division.

Stout, a resident of Detroit, illustrated his remarkss with pictures and experimental insect wing models.

Airplane a Creation by Man

He pointed out that the airplane is man's creation for taking to the air. Plans are not duplicated anywhere in nature Stout said.

So far, man has been unable to create an "ornithopter," a device which would enable him to fly like a bird. Even if such a craft has been invented it still wouldn't be perfect, Stout asserted. He explained:

Birds Not Good Flyers

"Birds are not very good flyers. You never saw one land upside down on the ceiling!"

And that's where Stout plugged the insect as a "flying fool," by adding:

"Insects fly successfully with pay loads on wings of very much smaller proportion than birds — and make higher speeds proportionately and with more maneuverability."

Insurance Case Opinion Given

Judge Braham Hands Down Opinion In Suit By Insurance Commissioner

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

In an opinion and order handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham on Wednesday, the objections of William A. Margrath in the case of Insurance Commissioner Gregg L. Neel are dismissed. The case is only one of thousands of such cases filed in Pennsylvania by the insurance department and most of the objections cited in the Margraf case had been decided before by the Supreme Court.

The cases arose out of the failure of the Keystone Indemnity Exchange, which had a provision that policy holders were liable for one year's premium as an assessment at any time it was necessary.

Following the failure of the company, Insurance Commissioner Gregg L. Neel notified policy holders they had been assessed one year's premiums.

Cases were brought in a number of counties and some of them went to the Supreme Court. In this county the Margraf case was selected as a test case. It was argued that the law providing for such assessments violated Article Three, Section three, of the Pennsylvania Constitution and that further, such an assessment was a violation of the "due process" provisions of the Federal constitution.

Judge Braham ruled that such questions had been settled by the Supreme Court and dismissed the objections. The decision will probably open the way to the settlement of many similar cases here.

ROAD DIFFICULTIES

Possibilities of a holdup in the building of the King's Chapel road were seen on Wednesday morning when Harry Claybaugh of the State Highway department met with the county commissioners.

Mr. Claybaugh said that 24 of the property owners on the route had signed waivers of damages but that two had not. Grading has started on the road, but no work is being done in front of the properties whose owners refused to sign waivers.

Mr. Claybaugh asked the commissioners to assume any damages which might arise if the state built past the properties where no waivers had been signed.

County Commissioner Joseph F. Travers said he was against the county assuming the damage risk and suggested that the state take over the burden, with the county reimbursing the state. Mr. Claybaugh said the state did not do this in the case of a new road being built over a former dirt road.

It was finally decided to view the property and see if some agreement can be reached. If the property owners do not sign, and the county will not assume damages, it may be the state will build both ends of the road and leave the stretch at issue as a dirt road.

Sister Kenny Back From European Tour Of 14 Nations

NEW YORK, July 31.—Sister Elizabeth Kenny returned aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth Wednesday from "a most successful" tour of 14 European nations which had invited her to demonstrate her method of treating infantile paralysis.

The famous Australian nurse said she found Spain far ahead of the rest of the world in research into infantile paralysis. She did not elaborate on this statement.

Sister Kenny said it took her "less than five minutes each" to correct deformities in 15 persons she treated during her travels.

She said she spent one week in Russia, and Soviet authorities agreed to cooperate with her in her fight against the disease. She added:

"I gave the Russians a film of my work and demonstrated my technique.

"It was agreed in every country that I visited that I had made a valuable contribution that was something new."

Sister Kenny was greeted on her arrival by William G. Baxter, Michigan state administrator of the Sister Kenny Foundation.

Claridge—Nemacolin; Johnson Bronze—Wilkes-Barre Clash Tonight

Duquesne, Derry Are Put Out Of Tourney By Defeats Wednesday

Nemacolin Edges Duquesne 6 To 5, And Tarentum Whitewashes Derry 4 To 0

Jay-Bees And Wilkes-Barre In Quarter Final Battle, Clark Fans 14 Batters

Weather permitting the National Baseball Congress state tournament fans will see a crackling good Johnson Bronze and Wilkes-Barre quarter-final battle tonight at Flaherty Field under the lights. In the first game at 6:30 Nemacolin will play Claridge

Last evening saw two more teams fail to make the tourney grade and are rubbed out—Duquesne Zemps losing to Nemacolin 6 to 5 and Derry Vets losing to Tarentum Swerlings 4 to 0.

Herman Will Pitch

"I'll use Hank Herman on the hill tonight and if the big fireball artist is right, he will be tough to beat, and of course we want to win this crucial battle," Mike Diffley, genial manager of the Jay-Bees said today. Herman beat Ford City here last night.

Wilkes-Barre has defeated Smock and Derry Vets in the tourney to date and rate as tourney darkhorses, while the Bronze had rubbed out Claridge and Ford City, two toughies. Wilkes-Barre will probably use Zwirek their star right-hander tonight, the lad who set Smock down with four hits his last time out in the tourney.

Four Undefeated Teams

The winner of the game tonight between the Bronze and Wilkes-Barre will play the winner of the Bessemer-Pittston game which occurs Friday evening. There are only four undefeated teams left in the tourney.

Tournament fans are seeing crackerjack non-professional baseball here. The teams that have appeared here are the best in their respective districts.

Despite a terrific home run clout, his third at Flaherty field in two games by Steve Evans, the Duquesne Zemps lost to the Nemacolin team in the opening game last night in the tourney, 6 to 5, by pecking away at Dyakon in the first three innings to go ahead at 4 to 3 in the third inning, and sew it up in the sixth with a two-run attack

When Evans hit his left-center field homer in the first innings, there were two mates aboard, Mahokus and Carr, both having singled. Another Duquesne outburst of hitting in the fifth produced two runs, their final scoring effort, and taking the lead temporarily at 5 to 4. This being the second defeat for the Zemps puts them out of the tourney.

Clark Fans 14 Batters

Dick Clark, young 19-year-old fire-ball artist from Tarentum, blazed them in last night, and at the end of the game with the Derry Vets, had 14 strikeouts to his credit, as his mates batted out a 4 to 0 victory, to remain in tourney play.

FLYWEIGHTS ON FLAHERTY FIELD BOXING DOCKET

In ye olden days, flyweights were popular here, and fans have not yet forgotten the classy and fast fights staged by Midget Wolgast, Willie Davies, Ernie Peters, Phil Tobias, Frisco Grande and Luis Carpentier but when fans trot to Flaherty Field, August 8, they'll see a new pair of coming flyweights, Tommy Salem of Cleveland against Bobby White also of Cleveland.

According to Jimmy Avon, Cleveland amateur fistic impressario they are two of Cleveland's best, and he expects them to put up one of the speediest three-round fights in some time, which will be backed up by a slugging match between Don Andexler and Eddie Beno, both of Cleveland, who are lightweights and a return bout between Chuck Gibbons and Lionel LaGrew.

Bill Bradley, local middleweight will make his debut at Flaherty Field against Pete Stevens who won by a knockout in the last show while classy, and hard-punching Lallo Sabotin will take on Bob Redding, whom he was supposed to box in the first show but couldn't account of hand injuries to Redding.

Guy Boxes Sal

Guy Elisco, the durable heavyweight, will have a more even match with Sal Brunello than he did with Al Micatrotte. Sal isn't as good as Al and while Guy took a pasting from Al he expects to even up by handing Sal, a classy looking chap, even though Elkins Brothers did put the finisher on him in the first fight.

With Elkins Brothers pitted against southpaw, Al Micatrotte, and world's bantamweight champion Bobby Bell slated to punch it out with junior featherweight champion Ted Fittipaldo, indications point to a crowd of thousands. Tickets went on sale today at The Castleton, Leslie and Sporting Goods store.

Billy Pozza of Ellwood City stopped Alvin Lewis of Pittsburgh in the first round.

Dodgers Pounce On Cardinals In Tenth For Win

By LOU GARAVENTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 31.—A shocked and groggy St. Louis Cardinal team hummed the dirge-like "blues" today, and battered bunch from Brooklyn whistled a split-tooth rendition of "Praise the Lord, we were almost decommissioned" following last night's almost incredible 11 to 10 Dodger conquest.

The swashbuckling National League front-runners pounced on the injured Harry Brecheen and his comrades for a 10 to 0 lead in the first five and a half innings to seem assured of the 12th straight victory and a nine game lead in the senior loop.

But the National League victories, unlike death and taxes, are notoriously uncertain.

Cards Storm Back

The resurgent Cards stormed back with four runs in the sixth and then smashed across six more in the ninth after two were out, to tie up the ball game.

Brooklyn demonstrated its tenacious quality then by clipping the sixth St. Louis pitcher, Jim Hearn, for the winning run. Gene Germanski doubled, and with two out, the Louisville Colonel, Pee Wee Reese took charge and rifled a single to center. And that was the ball game.

Blackwell Beaten

Ewell Blackwell, 1947's mound sensation suffered a rude jolt in his quest for establishment of a major league record for consecutive pitching triumphs. The gaunt Cincinnati ace with the fluid cross-fire motion went ten dramatic innings before a chance at baseball immortality was denied him.

Blackwell, with 16 straight victories, was after Rube Marquard's 1912 standard of 19 successive wins and Carl Hubbell's unaccepted mark of 24 straight victories over two seasons, 1937 and '38.

But the home-run hammering New York Giants blasted Blackwell's dreams by tying up the game on a ninth inning circuit clout by Willard Marshall (No. 27) and winning in the tenth 5 to 4.

Pirates-Braves Split

Another sustained accomplishment went by the boards in the Pirate-Brave doubleheader. In the first game, which swaggering Kirby Higbe won for the Bucs 5 to 3, Frankie Gustine was held hitless after having hit safely in 21 consecutive games.

The Brave home run power exerted itself in the nightcap, with four Braves batters (Tommy Holmes, Connie Ryan, Danny Litwhiler, and Mike McCormick) hitting for the circuit in the 8 to 5 Brave triumph. Bob Carpenter failed dismally in his comeback attempt with the Chicago Cubs, the veteran right hander being shelled in the 9 to 2 Philly victory.

Indians Scalp Sox

In the American League, the second place Red Sox stumbled again falling 11½ games off the torrid Yankee pace by losing to the Cleveland Indians 13 to 7. The Yankees walloped the Detroit Tigers 8-5.

The Philadelphia Athletics lost their 20th one-run game by submitting 3 to 2 to Southpaw Frank Papish's steady five hit hurling. Rudy York slammed his 11th home run with one on in the first to give the Chisox an early 2 to 0 edge.

The baseball gods frowned again on Washington pitcher Walter Masterson. The plucky hurler lost a tough 2 to 1 eleven inning game to Jack Kramer and the St. Louis Browns on Eddie Yost's error of Vernon Stephen's grounder.

TRAINMEN WIN

The Brotherhood of Trainmen defeated the Forest A.C. last night in a softball game at Liberty street, winning 12 to 3 with Gunther the winning pitcher and DeMarco the loser. Friday the Trainmen play the Sons of Italy at Liberty Street field at 6 o'clock.

JOHNSON BRONZE WINS

The Johnson Bronze softball team defeated the Shenango "Y" team in a league game last night 8 to 7 at Ryantown field, with Dinks Lane the winning hurler and Bobby Lee the loser.

Umpires Protest Budai Reinstating

Umpires Will Refuse To Work Games In Which Star Outfielder Plays

Leo W. Hill, president of the Lawrence County Umpires association, has informed Charles "Bugs" Walther, head of the City Baseball league, that no association umpires will handle a game in which Michael Budai, star Lawrence Indies outfielder, appears.

"The head of the city league acted without rights in reinstating Budai following his recent suspension for hitting Umpire Rotunno," Hill contended. According to the rules in the city league Budai should have drawn a suspension for the rest of the season.

"We will not play ball without Budai," said Manager George "Hoss" Zidow last night.

"We demand a showdown with the umpires," Zidow said.

Zidow has asked the city league officials for a special meeting at the "Y" for 8 o'clock Friday night, for managers only, at which time matters will be thrashed out and an effort made for harmony in the city league.

Hockman Sets Course Record

Veteran Railroader Fires Eight-Under Par, 64 Round At Castle Hills Course

Tucker Hockman, veteran railroader and resident of Walmo, an inveterate golfers, has finally realized his ambition, that of setting a new Castle Hills record, his blazing 64 card yesterday, eight under par 72 will no doubt stand for sometime to come.

Hockman was sensational as he litterly burned up the sleek fairways and greens at the beautiful layout as he rang up pars and birdies with monotonous regularity. He had a 32-32—64, three under on the front and five under on the tough back nine. He had eight birdies and all the rest pars.

Played In Foursome

Playing with Hockman on his record breaking flight was—Jack Halabe and John Dellaverson of New Castle and C. T. Lambert of Beaver Falls. Young "Blackie" Rush caddied for Hockman.

Hockman's card:
Out—343 344 343—32
In— 433 344 344—32—64.

The previous low at Castle Hills course was a 66 card.

Legion League Games Are Played

In Legion Junior League games played this week, Columbus Club down the Eagle team, 8-1, Dattilo allowing but five scattered hits for Columbus and fanned eight. Peretta was the big sticker for Columbus, while Hamilton had two doubles for F.O.E.

Post 315, V.F.W. won a pair of games, defeating Ecclesian Club, 4-0, the Ecclesians being unable to score despite the fact they got eight hits off Black. Black had a double and Dick Altman a homer.

In the other game, a hurler's duel, Post 35 won from Carm's team at Lee avenue, Monday, 4-1. Latsko allowed the Vets team four hits, Dick Altman blasting a timely triple. Bloise and Walzer had doubles.

Wagner Panthers edged Croton A.C. 9-8. Kennedy, Bender, and Cuba had two hits apiece. Croton staged a five-run rally in the sixth, but fell one run short of tying, when Tate relieved Haines and stopped Croton.

City League To Meet On Friday

There will be a special meeting of the city baseball league managers and officials of the loop, at the "Y" at 8 o'clock Friday evening, it was announced. Only managers are asked to be present. Important matters are to be discussed.

The Jarlingo club jumped to a three run advantage in the initial frame, added another in the second and tacked on a pair in the sixth.

Bobby Penwell had the St Lucy's batsmen jumping through hoops, spinning a four-hitter and blanking them until the final inning.

The Hillers got seven safeties off the slants of Cardio. Four miscues in the field hurt the Saint hurler.

Mario Caldarraro led both clubs in swatting with two doubles and a single.

Claridge—Nemacolin; Johnson Bronze—Wilkes-Barre Clash Tonight

Duquesne, Derry Are Put Out Of Tourney By Defeats Wednesday

Nemacolin Edges Duquesne 6 To 5, And Tarentum Whitewashes Derry 4 To 0

Jay-Bees And Wilkes-Barre In Quarter Final Battle, Clark Fans 14 Batters

Weather permitting the National Baseball Congress state tournament fans will see a crackling good Johnson Bronze and Wilkes-Barre quarter-final battle tonight at Flaherty Field under the lights. In the first game at 6:30 Nemacolin will play Claridge.

Last evening saw two more teams fail to make the tourney grade and are rubbed out—Duquesne Zemps losing to Nemacolin 6 to 5 and Derry Vets losing to Tarentum Swerlings 4 to 0.

Herman Will Pitch

"I'll use Hank Herman on the hill tonight and if the big fireball artist is right, he will be tough to beat, and of course we want to win this crucial battle," Mike Diffley, genial manager of the Jay-Bees said today. Herman beat Ford City here last night.

Wilkes-Barre has defeated Smock and Derry Vets in the tourney to date and rate as tourney darkhorses, while the Bronze had rubbed out Claridge and Ford City, two toughies. Wilkes-Barre will probably use Zwirek their star right-hander tonight, the lad who set Smock down with four hits his last time out in the tourney.

Four Undefeated Teams

The winner of the game tonight between the Bronze and Wilkes-Barre will play the winner of the Bessemer-Pittston game which occurs Friday evening. There are only four undefeated teams left in the tourney.

Tournament fans are seeing crackerjack non-professional baseball here. The teams that have appeared here are the best in their respective districts.

Despite a terrific home run clout, his third at Flaherty field in two games by Steve Evans, the Duquesne Zemps lost to the Nemacolin team in the opening game last night in the tourney, 6 to 5, by pecking away at Dyakon in the first three innings to go ahead at 4 to 3 in the third inning, and sew it up in the sixth with a two-run attack.

When Evans hit his left-center field homer in the first innings, there were two mates aboard, Makohus and Carr, both having singled. Another Duquesne outburst of batting in the fifth produced two runs, their final scoring effort, and taking the lead temporarily at 5 to 4. This being the second defeat for the Zemps outs them out of the tourney.

Clark Fans 14 Batters

Dick Clark, young 19-year-old fire-ball artist from Tarentum, blazed them in last night, and at the end of the game with the Derry Vets, had 14 strikeouts to his credit, as his mates batted out a 4 to 0 victory, to remain in tourney play.

Clark allowed seven hits, one a double by Ashley in the first inning.

Hitting the ball hard for the Swerlings was Henderson, Huet, and Lawrence with two blows apiece. Clark, Ashley and Hanna had two hits each for the Derry Vets.

Tarentum bunched hits in the first and sixth innings for the triumph. Derry had one scoring chance but missed, not many reaching beyond second-base.

The game was almost flawlessly played but one error being chalked up and that by Young Jones. Sparkling plays in the field delighted the fans.

FLYWEIGHTS ON FLAHERTY FIELD BOXING DOCKET

In ye olden days, flyweights were popular here, and fans have not yet forgotten the classy and fast fights staged by Midget Wolgast, Willie Davies, Ernie Peters, Phil Tobias, Frisco Grande and Luis Carpentier but when fans trot to Flaherty Field, August 8, they'll see a new pair of crafty flyweights, Tommy Salem of Cleveland against Bobby White also of Cleveland.

According to Jimmy Avon, Cleveland amateur fistic impressario they are two of Cleveland's best, and he expects them to put up one of the speediest three-round fights in some time, which will be backed up by a slugging match between Don Andexler and Eddie Beno, both of Cleveland, who are lightweights and a return bout between Chuck Gibbons and Lionel LaGrew.

Bill Bradley, local middleweight will make his debut at Flaherty Field against Pete Stevens who won by a knockout in the last show while classy, and hard-punching Lallo Sabatin will take on Bob Redding, whom he was supposed to box in the first show but couldn't account of hand injuries to Redding.

Guy Boxes Sal

Guy Elisco, the durable heavyweight, will have a more even match with Sal Brunello than he did with Al Micatrotte. Sal isn't as good as Al and while Guy took a pasting from Al he expects to even up by handing Sal, a classy looking chap, even though Elkins Brothers did put the finisher on him in the first fight.

With Elkins Brothers pitted against southpaw, Al Micatrotte and world's bantamweight champion Bobby Bell slated to punch it out with junior featherweight champion Ted Filtipaldo, indications point to a crowd of thousands. Tickets went on sale today at The Castleton, Leslie and Sporting Goods store.

Chuck Gibbons of Ellwood City had a hard fight with Danny Benedetto of Youngstown but was given the decision at the end of three rounds.

Silly Pozza of Ellwood City stopped Alvin Lewis of Pittsburgh in the first round.

Dodgers Pounce On Cardinals In Tenth For Win

By LOU GARAVENTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 31.—A shocked and groggy St. Louis Cardinal team hummed the dirge-like "blues" today, and battered bunch from Brooklyn whistled a split-tooth rendition of "Praise the Lord, we were almost decommissioned" following last night's almost incredible 11 to 10 Dodger conquest.

The swashbuckling National League front-runners pounced on the injured Harry Brecheen and his comrades for a 10 to 0 lead in the first five and a half innings to seem assured of the 12th straight victory and a nine game lead in the senior loop.

But the National League victories, unlike death and taxes, are notoriously uncertain.

Cards Storm Back

The resurgent Cards stormed back with four runs in the sixth and then smashed across six more in the ninth after two were out, to tie up the ball game.

Brooklyn demonstrated its tenacious quality then by clipping the sixth St. Louis pitcher, Jim Hearn, for the winning run. Gene Germanski doubled, and with two out, the Louisville Colonel, Pee Wee Reese took charge and rifled a single to center. And that was the ball game.

Blackwell Beaten

Ewell Blackwell, 1947's mound sensation suffered a rude jolt in his quest for establishment of a major league record for consecutive pitching triumphs. The gaunt Cincinnati ace with the fluid cross-fire motion went ten dramatic innings before a chance at baseball immortality was denied him.

Blackwell, with 16 straight victories, was after Rube Marquard's 1912 standard of 19 successive wins and Carl Hubbell's unaccepted mark of 24 straight victories over two seasons, 1937 and '38.

But the home-run hammering New York Giants blasted Blackwell's dreams by tying up the game on a ninth inning circuit clout by Willard Marshall (No. 27) and winning in the tenth 5 to 4.

Pirates-Braves Split

Another sustained accomplishment went by the boards in the Pirate-Brave doubleheader. In the first game, which swaggering Kirby Higbe won for the Bucs 5 to 3, Frankie Gustine was held hitless after having hit safely in 21 consecutive games.

The Brave home run power exerted itself in the nightcap, with four Braves batters (Tommy Holmes, Connie Ryan, Danny Litwhiler, and Mike McCormick) hitting for the circuit in the 8 to 5 Brave triumph.

Bob Carpenter failed dismally in his comeback attempt with the Chicago Cubs, the veteran right hander being shelled in the 9 to 2 Philly victory.

Indians Scalp Sox

In the American League, the second place Red Sox stumbled again falling 11½ games off the torrid Yankee pace by losing to the Cleveland Indians 13 to 7. The Yankees walloped the Detroit Tigers 8-5.

The Philadelphia Athletics lost their 20th one-run game by submitting 3 to 2 to Southpaw Frank Papish's steady five hit hurling. Rudy York slammed his 11th home run with one on in the first to give the Chisox an early 2 to 0 edge.

The baseball gods frowned again on Washington pitcher Walter Masterson. The plucky hurler lost a tough 2 to 1 eleven inning game to Jack Kramer and the St. Louis Browns on Eddie Yost's error of Vernon Stephen's grounder.

TRAINMEN WIN

The Brotherhood of Trainmen defeated the Forest A.C. last night in a softball game at Liberty street, winning 12 to 3 with Gunther the winning pitcher and DeMarco the loser. Friday the Trainmen play the Sons of Italy at Liberty Street field at 6 o'clock.

JOHNSON BRONZE WINS

The Johnson Bronze softball team defeated the Shenango "Y" team in a league game last night 8 to 7 at Ryantown field, with Dinks Lane the winning hurler and Bobby Lee the loser.

Umpires Protest Budai Reinstating

Umpires Will Refuse To Work Games In Which Star Outfielder Plays

Leo W. Hill, president of the Lawrence County Umpires association, has informed Charles "Bugs" Walther, head of the City Baseball league, that no association umpires will handle a game in which Michael Budai, star Lawrence Indies outfielder, appears.

"The head of the city league acted without rights in reinstating Budai following his recent suspension for hitting Umpire Rotunno," Hill contended. According to the rules in the city league Budai should have drawn a suspension for the rest of the season.

"We will not play ball without Budai," said Manager George "Hoss" Zidow last night.

"We demand a showdown with the umpires," Zidow said.

Zidow has asked the city league officials for a special meeting at the "Y" for 8 o'clock Friday night, for managers only, at which time matters will be thrashed out and an effort made for harmony in the city league.

Hockman Sets Course Record

Veteran Railroader Fires Eight-Under Par, 64 Round At Castle Hills Course

Tucker Hockman, veteran railroader and resident of Walmo, an inveterate golfers, has finally realized his ambition, that of setting a new Castle Hills record, his blazing 64 card yesterday, eight under par 72 will no doubt stand for sometime to come.

Hockman was sensational as he litterly burned up the sleek fairways and greens at the beautiful layout as he rang up pars and birdies with monotonous regularity. He had a 32-32—64, three under on the front and five under on the tough back nine. He had eight birdies and all the rest pars.

Played In Foursome

Playing with Hockman on his record breaking flight was—Jack Halabe and John Dellaverson of New Castle and C. T. Lambert of Beaver Falls. Young "Blackie" Rush caddied for Hockman.

Hockman's card:
Out—343 344 343—32
In— 433 341 344—32—64.

The previous low at Castle Hills course was a 66 card.

Legion League Games Are Played

In Legion Junior League games played this week, Columbus Club down the Eagle team, 8-1, Dattilo allowing but five scattered hits for Columbus and fanned eight. Peretta was the big sticker for Columbus, while Hamilton had two doubles for F.O.E.

Post 315, V.F.W. won a pair of games, defeating Ecclesian Club, 4-0, the Ecclesians being unable to score despite the fact they got eight hits off Black. Black had a double and Dick Altman a homer.

In the other game, a hurler's duel, Post 25 won from Carmi's team at Lee avenue, Monday, 4-1. Latsko allowed the Vets team four hits, Dick Altman blasting a timely triple. Bloise and Walzer had doubles.

Wagner Panthers edged Croton A.C. 9-8. Kennedy, Bender, and Cuba had two hits apiece. Croton staged a five-run rally in the sixth, but fell one run short of tying, when Tate relieved Haines and stopped Croton.

City League To Meet On Friday

There will be a special meeting of the city baseball league managers and officials of the loop, at the "Y" at 8 o'clock Friday evening, it was announced. Only managers are asked to be present. Important matters are to be discussed.

Universals Win 24th Straight

Potters Uncover Pitching Find In Stan Kupiec, Gives Slovaks Three Hits

WEST PITTSBURG AND SOUTH HILL VICTORS

Universal Pottery baseball team won number 24 in a row, in the city league last night, defeating the Slovaks 13 to 3 in a postponed game, and uncovering a new pitching find in young Stanley Kupiec. The youngster fanned seven batters as he let the Slovaks down with three hits.

The Universals hopped on the Slovak hurlers for 11 runs in the first innings, their heavy bats playing a tune on almost everything the pitchers served up. Leading the hit parade for the city league leaders was—John Razzano, Steve Hutnick with three hits each and Tony Razzano, Pete Razzano, with two hits each.

The young former Union High southpaw looked impressive on the mound in his first city league start and will greatly aid the rather lean Potter pitching staff.

Gen. Carl Spaatz Terms Air Power Greatest U. S. Need

Says Nation Of Wings, Supported By Industrial Power Is Nation Secure

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(INS)—Gen. Carl Spaatz today termed air power America's "new frontier of endeavor" and declared that "a nation on wings, supported by industrial power, is a nation secure."

The commander of the army air forces, in a speech before the international convention of Lion clubs in San Francisco, urged "broad vision" in determining a national air policy.

Spaatz said the great military lesson learned in World War II was that "strategic use of air power makes war total: air supremacy maintained over the enemy's territory is tantamount to victory."

To Head Independent Force

The veteran flier, slated to be first leader of the independent U. S. air force, warned that air lessons learned from applied strategic air power will influence warfare and industry for generations to come.

Spaatz conceded that "victory was a close call in timing." He said:

"It came as a result of long-range vision and of effective cooperation between land, sea and air forces to attain the air supremacy of the final stage."

He urged fresh appreciation for the need for air mobility and the immense technical needs of both the military and commercial air arm. He said development of U. S. air power will depend on education, training and "cultivation" in an era which will require "air statesmen."

The general added: "We cannot impose our freedom upon other nations. But we can make freedom obtainable for all men by our ability to control our own destiny and remain free."

Home Street Has Airplane Show

Home street playground featured an airplnae contest on Wednesday afternoon with a variety of planes being entered in the show. Prizes were awarded to three winners, Bunny Mangeria, of South Jefferson street, Mary Ann Gervac, South Jefferson street, and Cookie Ross, Maitland street.

Receiving honorable mention were Philip Fortney, Levine Way, Margaret Ann Flora, Maitland street, Ronnie Gallucci, Friendship street, and Ralph DiMucci, South Mercer street.

Judges for the airplane contest were Richard Fortney, Anthony Fontana, Benjamin Nero and Miss Virginia General.

LEO L. JONES AT 15-DAY AIR RESERVE CAMP

Lt. Leo L. Jones, of 501 Denver avenue, is currently enrolled at the Air Force Reserve Training School for Officers and enlisted men at Godman Field, Ky.

The encampment, 15 days in length, is designed to keep reserve men in tune with the latest tactics and techniques of the AAF. The program is under the command of the 11th Air Force in Harrisburg.

Gen. Carl Spaatz Terms Air Power Greatest U. S. Need

Says 'Nation Of Wings, Supported By Industrial Power Is Nation Secure

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(INS)—Gen. Carl Spaatz today termed air power America's "new frontier of endeavor" and declared that "a nation on wings, supported by industrial power, is a nation secure."

The commander of the army air forces, in a speech before the international convention of Lions clubs in San Francisco, urged "broad vision" in determining a national air policy.

Spaatz said the great military lesson learned in World War II was that "strategic use of air power makes war total; air supremacy maintained over the enemy's territory is tantamount to victory."

To Head Independent Force

The veteran flier, slated to be first leader of the independent U. S. air force, warned that air lessons learned from applied strategic air power will influence warfare and industry for generations to come.

Spaatz conceded that "victory was a close call in timing." He said:

"It came as a result of long-range vision and of effective cooperation between land, sea and air forces to attain the air supremacy of the final stage."

He urged fresh appreciation for the need for air mobility and the immense technical needs of both the military and commercial air arm. He said development of U. S. air power will depend on education, training and "cultivation" in an era which will require "air statesmen."

The general added: "We cannot impose our freedom upon other nations. But we can make freedom obtainable for all men by our ability to control our own destiny and remain free."

Home Street Has Airplane Show

Home street playground featured an airplnae contest on Wednesday afternoon with a variety of planes being entered in the show. Prizes were awarded to three winners: Bunny Monteria, of South Jefferson street, Mary Ann Geral, South Jefferson street, and Carl [illegible], Maitland street.

Receiving honorable mention were Philip Fortney, Levine Way, Margaret Ann Plo[illegible], Maitland street, Ronnie Galluzzi, Friendship street, and Ralph DiMuer, South Mercer street.

Judges for the airplane contest were Richard Fortney, Anthony Fontana, Benjamin Nero and Miss Virginia General.

LEO L. JONES AT 15-DAY AIR RESERVE CAMP

The encampment, 15 days in length, is designed to keep reserve men in tune with the latest tactics and techniques of the AAF. The program is under the command of the 11th Air Force in Harrisburg.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 31.—(INS)—Joan Crawford sat shivering in front of a roaring fire.

The temperature outside was above 90 but the script for "Daisy Kenyon" said it was 55 and Miss Crawford is an actress who believes the script.

She pulled her $1200 beaver coat tighter about her 115 pounds and went into a long scene with Dana Andrews and Henry Fonda who, the cads they are, were in their shirt sleeves enjoying it all. Midway the perspiration stood out on her forehead and Otto Preminger, the producer-director, complained.

"Do you have to perspire like that?" he said accusingly. "You're a great actress. Try to control yourself".

The makeup man put an extra coat of gob on her face, designed to keep the perspiration from showing, and the prop man got the blaze roaring better than before. It was a lovely fireside scene in a pretty little cottage.

After it was finished, Miss Crawford said she felt as though she had just escaped from Dante's inferno.

She said:

"I've been working in this picture five weeks and I've dropped a pound a week. Why do the studios always film winter scenes in the summer?"

The worst, she said, was when Preminger dragged her out into a sun that sent the temperature up to 98, put her in galoshes, a fur coat and a fur hat, and told her to pretend she was having a rough winter in New England.

"It was a rough winter," she said, "in Hollywood".

Hollywood's most interesting brother and sister act this season is the Cagneys—Jimmy and Jeanne.

Having spent the past seven years in New York gaining valuable theatrical experience, Jeanne is now back in town playing the leading feminine role in "The Time Of Your Life," which stars brother Jim and is being produced by her other brother, Bill.

It's definitely not the usual case of Hollywood nepotism, though. Bill and Jimmy had to do a lot of fast talking to get their kid sister into the picture. Jeanne wasn't sure she was ready yet to step into such an important role.

MARKET TODAY WORKS HIGHER

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—The stock market worked higher today for the first time this week. Transactions were very quiet and well below the pace which marked preceeding sessions.

Some shares were strong but the majority displayed only fractional recoveries from the weakness of the last three days. Steels and specialties featured.

Bethlehem rose more than a point, DuPont more than two, American Woolen nearly two and Norfolk & Western almost three to highlight forenoon trades. U. S. Steel, Chrysler and General Motors all moved above previous closings. Coppers attracted buyers. Standard Oil of N. Y. paced a firm oil section with a point advance. Rails were quiet and mostly higher. Rubbers were steady.

Bonds and curb stocks edged up a shade. Cotton ruled higher.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 31.—(INS)—Joan Crawford sat shivering in front of a roaring fire.

The temperature outside was above 90 but the script for "Daisy Kenyon" said it was 55 and Miss Crawford is an actress who believes the script.

She pulled her $1200 beaver coat tighter about her 115 pounds and went into a long scene with Dana Andrews and Henry Fonda who, the cads they are, were in their shirt sleeves enjoying it all. Midway the perspiration stood out on her forehead and Otto Preminger, the producer-director, complained.

"Do you have to perspire like that?" he said accusingly. "You're a great actress. Try to control yourself".

The makeup man put an extra coat of gob on her face, designed to keep the perspiration from showing, and the prop man got the blaze roaring better than before. It was a lovely fireside scene in a pretty little cottage.

After it was finished, Miss Crawford said she felt as though she had just escaped from Dante's inferno.

She said:

"I've been working in this picture five weeks and I've dropped a pound a week. Why do the studios always film winter scenes in the summer?"

The worst, she said, was when Preminger dragged her out into a sun that sent the temperature up to 98, put her in galoshes, a fur coat and a fur hat, and told her to pretend she was having a rough winter in New England.

"It was a rough winter," she said. "in Hollywood".

Hollywood's most interesting brother and sister act this season is the Cagneys—Jimmy and Jeanne.

Having spent the past seven years in New York gaining valuable theatrical experience, Jeanne is now back in town playing the leading feminine role in "The Time Of Your Life," which stars brother Jim and is being produced by her other brother, Bill.

It's definitely not the usual case of Hollywood nepotism, though. Bill and Jimmy had to do a lot of fast talking to get their kid sister into the picture. Jeanne wasn't sure she was ready yet to step into such an important role.

The United States has 11 times as many miles of railway as Great Britain and 36 times as many as China.
